Fishes of the Yellowstone National Park Hugh M. Smith, 2017-11-04 Excerpt from Fishes of the Yellowstone National Park With Description of the Park Waters and Notes on Fishing It thus follows that the native fish fauna of the park is very limited Except in Yellowstone River and its tributaries practically no fishes occur naturally above the falls and in the extensive basin of that river the few species that do exist gained access to the region above the falls because of the imperfect watershed separating the Yellowstone and the Snake River basins The original comparative barrenness of the park in fish life was due entirely to topographical conditions The physical character of the waters is in general highly favorable for fishes and an examination of the streams and lakes of the park by Prof Forbes in 18903 disclosed the presence in certain barren waters of an abundant insect and crustacean food well suited for sustaining certain kinds of fishes The theory that would account for the original absence of fishes in particular park waters as due to the high temperature and chemical constituents of the great volumes of water owin from the geysers and hot springs is entirely untenable for severa reasons First native trout abound and ourish in various streams and lakes in close proximity to the outpourings of geysers and hot springs and secondly both native and exotic trouts have been successfully planted in barren waters receiving the discharge of geysers and hot springs About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Yellowstone Lake - Yellowstone National Park, USA Gary David Blount, Normal 0 The Yellowstone Drainage supports the largest inland population of native Yellowstone Cutthroat Trout on Earth The Yellowstone Cutthroat Trout is considered a shared resource in Yellowstone Lake Grizzly Bears Black Bears Bald Eagles Golden Eagles Pelicans Osprey Great Blue Herons Kingfishers Gulls Grebes Terns Loons Mergansers Mink Otters Wolves and Coyotes prey upon Yellowstone Cutthroat Trout In the Yellowstone drainage 200 000 pounds of Yellowstone Cutthroat Trout are eaten each year by these animals and birds Yellowstone Lake is the largest fresh water lake in the United States above 7 000 feet it s altitude is 7 733 feet above sea level The Yellowstone Lake encompasses 136 square miles it is 20 miles long 14 miles wide and has 110 miles of shoreline Yellowstone Lake is 320 feet deep at its deepest point The average depth is 139 feet Yellowstone Cutthroat Trout generally inhabit the upper 60 feet because their food source rarely occurs below that depth The average surface temperature in August is 60 degrees Fahrenheit the bottom the temperature never rises above 42 degrees Fahrenheit The serenity of Yellowstone Lake can suddenly change with afternoon thunderstorms and their accompanying winds These winds can routinely produce 3 foot waves or larger within minutes on Yellowstone Lake With water temperatures averaging 41 degrees Fahrenheit you can develop hypothermia quickly if your vessel capsizes Fishing season in Yellowstone Lake opens June 15th each year usually There are 124 tributaries the Yellowstone Cutthroat Trout use for spawning including the largest tributary the Yellowstone River These spawning tributaries open July 15th each year however some remain closed all year The use of all lead fishing tackle is band fisherman must use Non Toxic alternative products The West Thumb geyser basin area has intense heat in the lake sediments which indicate a shallow thermal system underlying this more recent caldera If the lake level should fall just a few feet an immense steam hydrothermal explosion could occur here Mary Bay and Indian Pond now show evidence of these craters
