Constructing Urban Space with Sounds and Music Ricciarda Belgiojoso,2016-05-23 While we are used to looking around us we are less used to listening to what happens around us And yet the noises we produce reveal our way of life and learning to master them is a necessity This book aims at drawing the reader s attention to the sound of the urban environment The topic is by its very nature complex as it involves sounds and noises urban space and social activities Using an interdisciplinary approach it examines a heterogeneous selection of experimentations from the domains of music art and architecture Significant case studies of pieces of music public art works and scientific research in the field of urban planning are analyzed investigating the methods that have been adopted and the aural processes that have been generated It then uses the findings to reconstruct the underlying theories and practices and to show what might be drawn from these procedures applied to urban planning The overall objective is to learn to build and enrich space with sound arguing that there is a need to reconsider architecture and urban planning beyond building and to look to the world of the arts and other disciplines In doing so the book guides the reader toward a sensorial architecture and more generally toward consciously creating environmental architecture which is sustainable and connects with art and which diffuses a culture of sound

The Bloomsbury Handbook of Sonic Methodologies Michael Bull,Marcel Cobussen,2020-12-10 The field of Sound Studies has changed and developed dramatically over the last two decades involving a vast and dizzying array of work produced by those working in the arts social sciences and sciences The study of sound is inherently interdisciplinary and is undertaken both by those who specialize in sound and by others who wish to include sound as an intrinsic and indispensable element in their research This is the first resource to provide a wide ranging cross cultural and interdisciplinary investigation and analysis of the ways in which researchers use a broad range of methodologies in order to pursue their sonic investigations It brings together 49 specially commissioned chapters that ask a wide range of questions including how can sound be used in current academic disciplines Is sound as a methodological tool indispensable for Sound Studies and what can sound artists contribute to the discourse on methodology in Sound Studies The editors also present 3 original chapters that work as provocative sonic methodological interventions prefacing the 3 sections of the book      OC-Open City.

International Summer School. Con DVD Guya Bertelli,2011      Moravian Soundscapes Sarah Justina Eyerly,2020-05-05 In Moravian Soundscapes Sarah Eyerly contends that the study of sound is integral to understanding the interactions between German Moravian missionaries and Native communities in early Pennsylvania In the mid 18th century when the frontier between settler and Native communities was a shifting spatial and cultural borderland sound mattered People listened carefully to each other and the world around them In Moravian communities cultures of hearing and listening encompassed and also superseded musical traditions such as song and hymnody Complex biophonic geophonic and anthrophonic acoustic environments or soundscapes characterized daily life in Moravian settlements such as Bethlehem Nain Gnadenh tten and Friedensh tten Through detailed analyses and historically informed recreations of Moravian communal environmental and religious soundscapes and their attendant hymn traditions Moravian Soundscapes explores how sounds musical and nonmusical human and nonhuman shaped the Moravians religious culture Combined with access to an interactive website that immerses the reader in mid 18th century Pennsylvania and framed with an autobiographical narrative Moravian Soundscapes recovers the roles of sound and music in Moravian communities and provides a road map for similar studies of other places and religious traditions in the future

Urban Soundscapes Usue Ruiz Arana,2024-04-30 Sound and listening are intrinsically linked to how we experience and engage with places and communities This guide puts forward a new conceptual framework of embodied affectivity that emphasises listening in urban research and design and advances new ways of knowing and making The guide invites landscape architects and urban designers to become soundscape architects and offers practical advice on sound and listening applicable to each stage of a design project from reading the environment to intervening on it Urban Soundscapes foregrounds listening as an affective mediator between subjects and multispecies environments and a vehicle to think and conceptualise environmental research and design beyond prevailing visual and human centred modes The guide expands landscape architects and urban designers tools and skills to assess existing soundscapes predict how those soundscapes will be altered through their designs consider sound as a creative and active part of the design process and envisage how users might perceive and be affected by those soundscapes as they evolve in time The volume sits in the interface of research and practice and interweaves theoretical methodological and creative contributions from acoustic ecology ecoacoustics bioacoustics and sound art Each of the design stages is illustrated through project examples that demonstrate the many advantages of incorporating attentive listening and sound into Landscape Architecture and Urban Design Practice This book shows how incorporating listening and sounding as part of the design process promotes slow and subtle ways of practice adds social and ecological value through the reduction of noise pollution and by monitoring the health of habitats and enables the design of soundscapes that complement the character and design intent of a scheme and elicit joy and wonder The book will be of interest to practitioners and academics in landscape architecture and other design and spatial fields such as urban design architecture geography and engineering who play a primary role in the composition of the soundscape

Stereophonica Gascia Ouzounian,2021-02-16 Episodes in the transformation of our understanding of sound and space from binaural listening in the nineteenth century to contemporary sound art The relationship between sound and space has become central to both creative practices in music and sound art and contemporary scholarship on sound Entire subfields have emerged in connection to the spatial aspects of sound from spatial audio and sound installation to acoustic ecology and soundscape studies But how did our understanding of sound become spatial In Stereophonica Gascia Ouzounian examines a series of historical episodes that transformed ideas of sound and space from the advent of stereo technologies in the nineteenth century to visual representations of sonic environments today Developing a uniquely interdisciplinary perspective Ouzounian draws on both the history of science and technology and the history of music and sound art She investigates the binaural apparatus that allowed nineteenth century listeners to observe sound in three dimensions examines the development of military technologies for sound location during World War I revisits experiments in stereo sound at Bell Telephone Laboratories in the 1930s and considers the creation of optimized acoustical environments for theaters and factories She explores the development of multichannel spatial music in the 1950s and sound installation art in the 1960s analyzes the mapping of soundscapes and investigates contemporary approaches to sonic urbanism sonic practices that reimagine urban environments through sound Rich in detail but accessible and engaging and generously illustrated with photographs drawings maps and diagrams of devices and artworks Stereophonica brings an acute imaginative and much needed historical sensibility to the growing literature around sound and space

Sounds in Translation Amy Chan, Alistair Noble, 2009-09-01 Sounds in Translation Intersections of music technology and society joins a growing number of publications taking up R Murray Schafer's challenge to examine and to re focus attention on the sound dimensions of our human environment This book takes up his challenge to contemporary audiologists musicologists and sound artists working within areas of music cultural studies media studies and social science to explore the idea of the soundscape and to investigate the acoustic environment that we inhabit It seeks to raise questions regarding the translative process of sound 1 what happens to sound during the process of transfer and transformation and 2 what transpires in the process of sound production expression performance Sounds in Translation was conceived to take advantage of new technology and a development in book publishing the electronic book Much of what is written in the book is best illustrated by the sound itself and in that sense permits sound to speak for itself HCI International 2022 - Late Breaking Papers: HCI for Today's Community and Economy Matthias Rauterberg, Fiona Fui-Hoon Nah, Keng Siau, Heidi Krömker, June Wei, Gavriel Salvendy, 2022-10-21 This proceedings LNCS 13516 constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 24th International Conference on Human Computer Interaction HCII 2022 which was held virtually as part of the 24th International Conference HCII 2022 during June 26 to July 1 2022 HCII 2022 received a total of 5583 submissions from academia research institutes industry and governmental agencies from 88 countries submitted contributions and 1276 papers and 275 posters were included in the proceedings that were published just before the start of the conference Additionally 296 papers and 181 posters are included in the volumes of the proceedings published after the conference as Late Breaking Work papers and posters The contributions thoroughly cover the entire field of human computer interaction addressing major advances in knowledge and effective use of computers in a variety of application areas R. Murray Schafer L. Brett Scott, 2019-01-21 R Murray Schafer A Creative Life is the authoritative exploration of the life and work of this preeminent Canadian composer artist educator and activist Working closely with the composer and his family L Brett Scott has created the most up to date and accurate exploration of Schafer Scott draws on many public and private sources including the composer's own journals and correspondence which have not been previously available to researchers Scott discusses Schafer's extensive writings including his research writings on Ezra Pound and E T A Hoffmann and his multiple works of fiction The volume also includes a detailed summary of Schafer's work in the field of acoustic ecology and recognition of his role as founder of the World Soundscape Project as well as an overview of his writings on creative music education With complete discussions of his theater works choral compositions compositions for voice chamber pieces orchestral compositions and early and transitional works and a chronological list of compositions and select discography this volume presents the most comprehensive study of Schafer and his enduring legacy Dwelling, Place and Environment David Seamon, Robert Mugerauer, 2012-12-06 themes among the essays resurface and resonate Though our request for essays was broad and open ended we found that topics such as seeing authenticity interpretation wholeness care and dwelling ran as undercurrents throughout Our major hope is that each essay plays a part in revealing a larger whole of meaning which says much about a more humane relationship with places environments and the earth as our home Part I Beginnings and directions At the start we recognize the tremendous debt this volume owes to philosopher Martin Heidegger 1890 1976 whose ontological excavations into the nature of human existence and meaning provide the philosophical foundations for many of the essays particularly those in Part I of the volume Above all else Heidegger was regarded by his students and colleagues as a master teacher He not only thought deeply but was also able to show others how to think and to question Since he perhaps more than anyone else in this century provides the instruction for doing a phenomenology and hermeneutic of humanity's existential situation he is seminal for phenomenological and hermeneutical research in the environmental disciplines He presents in his writings what conventional scholarly work especially the scientific approach lacks he helps us to evoke and understand things through a method that allows them to come forth as they are he provides a new way to speak about and care for our human nature and environment
