world religions Charles D Orzech compares five purpose built museums of world religions and their online extensions Inspired by the 19th and 20th century discipline of comparative religion these museums seek to promote religious tolerance by representing religious diversity and by arguing for underlying kinship among religions From locations in Europe Marburg Glasgow and St Petersburg to North America Quebec to Asia Taipei each museum advances a particular cultural history This book shows how the curation of the objects they contain shapes public perceptions of religion giving material form to the discourses about religion and world religions Raising important questions about religion and secularity museum displays and religious piety Museums of World Religions questions the ideology that informs these museums Building on recent anthropological work on the agency of religious objects the author critiques these museums and suggests new approaches to displaying the matter of religion      UFOs, Chemtrails, and Aliens Donald R. Sullivan, 2015-10-22 We have long recognized that many objects in museums were originally on display in temples shrines or monasteries and were religiously significant to the communities that created and used them How though are such objects to be understood described exhibited and handled now that they are in museums Are they still sacred objects or formerly sacred objects that are now art objects or are they simultaneously objects of religious and artistic significance depending on who is viewing the object These objects not only raise questions about their own identities but also about the ways we understand the religious traditions in which these objects were created and which they represent in museums today Bringing together religious studies scholars and museum curators Sacred Objects in Secular Spaces is the first volume to focus on Asian religions in relation to these questions The contributors analyze an array of issues related to the exhibition in museums of objects of religious significance from Hindu Buddhist and Sikh traditions The lives of objects are considered along with the categories of sacred and profane religious and secular As interest in material manifestations of religious ideas and practices continues to grow Sacred Objects in Secular Spaces is a much needed contribution to religious and Asian studies anthropology of religion and museums studies      Twentieth Century Impressions of British Malaya Arnold Wright, H.
