Endeavour and Resolution Cora Taylor, 2004-09-24 Jeremy's back in the past again this time aboard John Cabot's ship as he first lands on the shores of what will be called Newfoundland Ghost Voyages III Cora Taylor, 2005 Peril at Pier Nine Penny Draper, 2015-05-30 Jack Gordon and Henry Addison meet when the Great Lakes cruise ship the Noronic docks at Ward Island just before the ship catches fire with Henry on board Murder in Mexico Cora Taylor, 2007 Jennifer her twin Maggie and their friend Sam are hoping for a relaxing holiday in Mexico but at every turn they are drawn into a world of gun runners CIA agents and murder in a web that only Jennifer's magical talent can unweave Canadian Books in Print. Author and Title Index, 1975 Adventure in Istanbul Cora Taylor, 2005 Thirteen year old twins one of whom has discovered a magic spell that makes her invisible are on a Greek cruise with their grandmother battling spies and trying to rescue their father Double Ghosts David A. Chappell, 2016-09-16 This narrative recounts the 18th and 19th century shipping out of Pacific islanders aboard European and American vessels a kind of counter exploring that echoed the ancient voyages of settlement of their island ancestors Children's Book Review Index Gary C. Tarbert, 2006 The Book Review Digest, 2005 Cannibal Talk Gananath Obeyesekere, 2005-06-06 In this radical reexamination of the notion of cannibalism Gananath Obeyesekere offers a fascinating and convincing argument that cannibalism is mostly cannibal talk a discourse on the Other engaged in by both indigenous peoples and colonial intruders that results in sometimes funny and sometimes deadly cultural misunderstandings Turning his keen intelligence to Polynesian societies in the early periods of European contact and colonization Obeyesekere deconstructs Western eyewitness accounts carefully examining their origins and treating them as a species of fiction writing and seamen's yarns Cannibalism is less a social or cultural fact than a mythic representation of European writing that reflects much more the realities of European societies and their fascination with the practice of cannibalism he argues And while very limited forms of cannibalism might have occurred in Polynesian societies they were largely in connection with human sacrifice and carried out by a select community in well defined sacramental rituals Cannibal Talk considers how the colonial intrusion produced a complex self fulfilling prophecy whereby the fantasy of cannibalism became a reality as natives on occasion began to eat both Europeans and their own enemies in acts of conspicuous anthropophagy Book Review Index, 2006 Every 3rd issue is a quarterly cumulation Children's Books in Print, 2007, 2006 Intimate Strangers Vanessa Smith, 2010-10-28 When Louis Antoine de Bougainville reached Tahiti in 1768 he was struck by the way in which All these people came crying out tayo which means friend and gave a thousand signs of friendship they all asked nails and ear rings of us Reading the archive of early contact in Oceania against European traditions of thinking about intimacy and exchange Vanessa Smith illuminates the traditions and desires that led Bougainville and other European voyagers to believe that the first word they heard in the Pacific was the word for friend Her book encompasses forty years of encounters from the arrival of the Dolphin in Tahiti in June 1767 through Cook's and Bligh's voyages to early missionary and beachcomber settlement in the Marquesas It unpacks both the political and emotional significances of ideas of friendship for late eighteenth century European and particularly British explorations of Oceania

Uncommon Sense ,1997      The Story of the Voyage Philip Edwards,1994 Study of voyage narratives including Cook and Bligh set in the context of British imperialism      This Horrid Practice Paul Moon,2008-08-04 Though stronger evidence of this horrid practice prevailing among the inhabitants of this coast will scarcely be required we have still stronger to give Captain James Cook This Horrid Practice uncovers an unexplored taboo of New Zealand history the widespread practice of cannibalism in pre European Maori society Until now many historians have tried to avoid it and many Maori have considered it a subject best kept quiet about in public Paul Moon brings together an impressive array of sources from a variety of disciplines to produce this frequently contentious but always stimulating exploration of how and why Maori ate other human beings and why the practice shuddered to a halt just a few decades after the arrival of Europeans in New Zealand The book includes a comprehensive survey of cannibalism practices among traditional Maori carefully assessing the evidence and concluding it was widespread Other chapters look at how explorers and missionaries saw the practice the role of missionaries and Christianity in its end and in the final chapter why there has been so much denial on the subject and why some academics still deny that it ever happened This Horrid Practice promises to be one of the leading works of New Zealand history published in 2008 It is a highly original work that every New Zealand history enthusiast will want to own and read

The Journals of Captain James Cook on his Voyages of Discovery J.C. Beaglehole,2017-07-05 On his second expedition to the Pacific in the years 1772-5 Captain James Cook made a voyage which in the annals of exploration is unsurpassed for grandeur of design and execution and for variety of experience Cook traversed the Indian and Pacific Oceans in high latitudes demonstrating that the supposed Southern continent could not extend north of 60 Cook three times crossed the Antarctic Circle reaching his furthest south in 71° 10' and he proved himself a master of navigation in ice In the Pacific his discoveries or rediscoveries included the Tonga Islands Easter Island the Marquesas the New Hebrides and New Caledonia with the sub antarctic islands of South Georgia and the South Sandwich group Captain Furneaux commanding the consort ship examined the coasts of Tasmania The written and graphic records left by Cook himself and by his officers by the astronomer William Wales and the artist William Hodges by the naturalists J R and George Forster are remarkable in their volume and vitality The editor Dr J C Beaglehole here prints the full text of Cook's own journal constructed from two holograph MSS and several MS copies and a great part of Wales's journal This facsimile edition reprints the edition of 1961 along with the Addenda and Corrigenda published in 1969 The illustrations originally in colour are reproduced in black and white the fold outs divided to fit on separate pages and the volume split into two parts      The Remarkable Mrs Reibey Grantlee Kieza,2023-05-01 The extraordinary story of Mary Reibey immortalised on the Australian 20 note Australia's first female entrepreneur and the most powerful woman in colonial history SHORTLISTED FOR THE 2024 INDIE BOOK AWARDS

In 1791 teenage runaway and sometime horse thief Mary Reibey narrowly escaped the English gallows with transportation to the brutal new penal colony at Sydney Cove. It was the beginning of a 60 plus year story of bravery and tenacity within two decades Mary would overcome the stigma of her convict past to become the richest woman in colonial Australia. Finding love early on her arrival in the new colony Mary went on to develop a family business which grew to include a fleet of merchant vessels. Widowed at just 33 and with seven children to support Mary would oversee the growth of that business to an international trading empire and go on to expand what is now Sydney's thriving business district while helping to bankroll many of the colony's first public services. Shipping magnate, real estate mogul, working mum and philanthropist, this engaging and meticulously researched portrait by the acclaimed author of bestsellers such as Mrs Kelly Banks, Banjo and Monash reveals a colourful character of remarkable determination and foresight who became one of Australia's first heroes as a brutal remote British outpost was transformed into one of the most prosperous places on earth.
