Gielguds Letters John Gielgud In His Own Words:

Gielgud's Letters John Gielgud, 2004 John Gielgud wrote letters almost every day of his adult life Whether at home in London and later in Buckinghamshire or acting abroad or on location he delighted in sitting down each morning and recounting what had been going on and what he felt about events around him He was still writing just a few days before his death aged 96 in May 2000 His letters are treasured by the recipients and the problem for the editor has been in selection He wrote in an increasingly idiosyncratic hand and remarked that even he needed a magnifying glass at times to see what he had actually written Through the letters which begin with those to his mother we meet a man who delights in gossip in describing what he sees and experiences Gielgud's love letters They show that he was not shy in expressing the intimacies of personal relationships Gielgud had a reputation for speaking his mind and this is evident as he writes about his contemporaries including the great actors of period Olivier Richardson Redgrave Peggy Ashcroft Edith Evans and the like Here is great letter writing before the age of e mail GIELGUD'S LETTERS are a revelation full of inside information and gossip

Sir John Gielgud John Gielgud, 2004 Over the course of his legendary career which spanned eight decades Gielgud reached a vast and varied audience as attested by his status as one of only ten people to have won all four of America's top entertainment awards a Academy Award a Tony an Emmy and a Grammy From his London stage debut in 1921 when he was only seventeen through such highly successful later day films as Gandhi Shine and Elizabeth Gielgud never failed to make an indelible impression

John Gielgud Ronald Hayman, 1971 It was over thirty years ago that John Gielgud wrote Early Stages a memoir of his informative years and first successes Gielgud was not born with a silver voice neither did he leap to fame overnight His first part with one line he did so badly that he was given silent walk ons for the rest of the season But years later after he had worked in Rep and had acted in many West End theatres he returned to the Vic at a very modest salary to learn how to play Shakespeare
