Gilean Douglas Andrea Pinto Lebowitz, Gillian Milton, Gilean Douglas, 1999 Widely known and respected for her nature writing and poetry Gilean Douglas 1900 1993 was also a journalist naturalist farmer adventurer and a feminist ahead of her time Her writings span almost the entire twentieth century This book both an intriguing biography and a collection of Douglas's best writing From her childhood in the early 1900s through four marriages ten years living in a small miner's cabin in a remote and inaccessible area the Cascade Mountains and forty years on a homestead on Cortes Island Like no other Gilean Douglas's story illustrates the changing world for women in the twentieth century Minds of Our Own Wendy

Robbins, Meg Luxton, Margrit Eichler, Francine Descarries, 2009-08-02 This book of personal essays by over forty women and men who founded women's studies in Canada and Quebec explores feminist activism on campus in the pivotal decade of 1966-76 The essays document the emergence of women's studies as a new way of understanding women men and society and they challenge some current preconceptions about second wave feminist academics The contributors explain how the intellectual and political revolution begun by small groups of academics often young untenured women at universities across Canada contributed to social progress and profoundly affected the way we think speak behave understand equality and conceptualize the academy and an academic career A contextualizing essay documents the social economic political and educational climate of the time and a concluding chapter highlights the essays recurring themes and assesses the intellectual and social transformation that their authors helped set in motion The essays document the appalling sexism and racism some women encounter in seeking admission to doctoral studies in hiring in pay and in establishing the legitimacy of feminist perspectives in the academy They reveal sources of resistance too not only from colleagues and administrators but from family members and from within the self In so doing they provide inspiring examples of sisterly support and lifelong friendship Shifting

Ground Ruth M. McVeigh, 2006-07-19 This autobiography traces the author's tempestuous 22 year marriage to an undiagnosed manic depressive Bipolar Affective Disorder with whom she raised two children Throughout the years the emotional and geographical ground under the author's feet kept shifting There were travels adventures job changes and financial disasters love and fun but also violence and pain Throughout this story the benchmarks of manic depression can be clearly identified as can the repercussions on relationships and family life Two years in Guyana South America provided memories no one else could share and kept the couple close when circumstances tended to separate them They camped and canoed in isolated regions of Algonquin Park Ontario explored the streets of London England and beach combed on Vancouver Island's west coast In addition to the unhappy and perplexing aspects of marriage to a manic depressive this book illustrates the positive side of life with a partner who does not fear consequences who is adventurous and willing to risk
