Gimme A Break:

TV Family Values Alice Leppert, 2019-03-15 During the 1980s U S television experienced a reinvigoration of the family sitcom genre In TV Family Values Alice Leppert focuses on the impact the decade s television shows had on middle class family structure These sitcoms sought to appeal to upwardly mobile career women and were often structured around non nuclear families and the reorganization of housework Drawing on Foucauldian and feminist theories Leppert examines the nature of sitcoms such as Full House Family Ties Growing Pains The Cosby Show and Who s the Boss against the backdrop of a time period generally remembered as socially conservative and obsessed with traditional family values Watching While Black Beretta E. Smith-Shomade, 2013-01-10

Television scholarship has substantially ignored programming aimed at Black audiences despite a few sweeping histories and critiques In this volume the first of its kind contributors examine the televisual diversity complexity and cultural imperatives manifest in programming directed at a Black and marginalized audience Watching While Black considers its subject from an entirely new angle in an attempt to understand the lives motivations distinctions kindred lines and individuality of various Black groups and suggest what television might be like if such diversity permeated beyond specialized enclaves It looks at the macro structures of ownership producing casting and advertising that all inform production and then delves into television programming crafted to appeal to black audiences historic and contemporary domestic and worldwide Chapters rethink such historically significant programs as Roots and Black Journal such seemingly innocuous programs as Fat Albert and Bro Town and such contemporary and culturally complicated programs as Noah s Arc Treme and The Boondocks The book makes a case for the centrality of these programs while always recognizing the racial dynamics that continue to shape Black representation on the small screen Painting a decidedly introspective portrait across forty years of Black television Watching While Black sheds much needed light on under examined demographics broadens common audience considerations and gives deference to the the preferences of audiences and producers of Black targeted programming Scripting the Black Masculine Body Ronald L. Jackson

II, 2006-01-01 Winner of the 2007 Everett Lee Hunt Award presented by the Eastern Communication Association Scripting the Black Masculine Body traces the origins of Black body politics in the United States and its contemporary manifestations in popular cultural productions From early blackface cinema through contemporary portrayals of the Black body in hip hop music and film Ronald L Jackson II examines how African American identities have been socially constructed constituted and publicly understood and argues that popular music artists and film producers often are complicit with Black body stereotypes Jackson offers a communicative perspective on body politics through a blend of social scientific and humanities approaches and offers possibilities for the liberation of the Black body from its current ineffectual and paralyzing representations
