Clements, 2014-10-01 Focusing on two Arizona towns that had their origins in mining bonanzas Tombstone and Jerome historian Eric L. Clements offers a rare study dissecting the process of bust itself the reasons and manners in which these towns declined as the mining booms ended Tombstone was the site of one of the great silver bonanzas of the nineteenth century a boom that started in the late 1870s and was over by 1890 Jerome's copper deposits were mined for much longer beginning in the 1880s and enduring until the 1930s But when the mining booms ended each town faced its decline in similar ways The process of decline was more complex than superficial histories have indicated and Clements discusses the role of labor unions in trying to stave off collapse the changing demography of decline the nature and expression of social tensions the impact on institutions such as churches and schools and the human responses to continued economic depression But bust involved more than a steady decline into ghost town status Clements discovers the towns remaining residents employed numerous strategies to survive and reduce household expenses In the end both towns reinvented themselves as late twentieth century tourist attractions

Empty Mansions Bill Dedman, Paul Clark Newell, Jr., 2014-04-22 1 NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLER NAMED ONE OF THE BEST BOOKS OF THE YEAR BY Janet Maslin The New York Times St Louis Post Dispatch When Pulitzer Prize winning journalist Bill Dedman noticed in 2009 a grand home for sale unoccupied for nearly sixty years he stumbled through a surprising portal into American history Empty Mansions is a rich mystery of wealth and loss connecting the Gilded Age opulence of the nineteenth century with a twenty first century battle over a 300 million inheritance At its heart is a reclusive heiress named Huguette Clark a woman so secretive that at the time of her death at age 104 no new photograph of her had been seen in decades Though she owned palatial homes in California New York and Connecticut why had she lived for twenty years in a simple hospital room despite being in excellent health Why were her valuables being sold off Was she in control of her fortune or controlled by those managing her money Dedman has collaborated with Huguette Clark's cousin Paul Clark Newell Jr one of the few relatives to have frequent conversations with her Dedman and Newell tell a fairy tale in reverse the bright talented daughter born into a family of extreme wealth and privilege who secrets herself away from the outside world Huguette was the daughter of self made copper industrialist W A Clark nearly as rich as Rockefeller in his day a controversial senator railroad builder and founder of Las Vegas She grew up in the largest house in New York City a remarkable dwelling with 121 rooms for a family of four She owned paintings by Degas and Renoir a world renowned Stradivarius violin a vast collection of antique dolls But wanting more than treasures she devoted her wealth to buying gifts for friends and strangers alike to quietly pursuing her own work as an artist and to guarding the privacy she valued above all else The Clark family story spans nearly all of American history in three generations from a log cabin in Pennsylvania to mining camps in the Montana gold rush from backdoor politics in Washington to a distress call from an elegant Fifth Avenue apartment The same Huguette who was touched by the terror attacks of 9 11 held a ticket nine decades earlier for a first class stateroom on the second voyage of the Titanic Empty Mansions reveals a complex portrait of the mysterious Huguette and her intimate circle We meet her extravagant father her publicity shy mother her star crossed sister her French boyfriend her nurse who received more than 30 million in gifts and the relatives fighting to inherit Huguette's copper fortune Richly illustrated with more than seventy photographs Empty Mansions is an enthralling story of an eccentric of the highest order a last jewel of the Gilded Age who lived life on her own terms

Undermining Race Phylis Cancilla Martinelli, 2015-10-19 Undermining Race rewrites the history of race immigration and labor in the copper industry in Arizona The book focuses on the case of Italian immigrants in their relationships with Anglo Mexican and Spanish miners and at times with blacks Asian Americans and Native Americans requiring a reinterpretation of the way race was formed and figured across place and time Phylis Martinelli argues that the case of Italians in Arizona provides insight into in between racial and ethnic categories demonstrating that the categorizing of Italians varied from camp to camp depending on local conditions such as management practices in structuring labor markets and workers housing and the choices made by immigrants in forging communities of language and mutual support Italians even light skinned northern Italians were not considered completely white in Arizona at this historical moment yet neither were they consistently racialized as non white and tactics used to control them ranged from micro to macro level violence To make her argument Martinelli looks closely at two white camps in Globe and Bisbee and at the Mexican camp of Clifton Morenci Comparing and contrasting the placement of Italians in these three camps shows how the usual binary system of race relations became complicated which in turn affected the existing race based labor hierarchy especially during strikes The book provides additional case studies to argue that the biracial stratification system in the United States was in fact triracial at times According to Martinelli this system determined the nature of the associations among laborers as well as the way Americans came to construct whiteness
