Gods, Ghosts, and Gangsters Avron Boretz, 2010-10-31 Demon warrior puppets sword wielding Taoist priests spirit mediums lacerating their bodies with spikes and blades these are among the most dramatic images in Chinese religion Usually linked to the propitiation of plague gods and the worship of popular military deities such ritual practices have an obvious but previously unexamined kinship with the traditional Chinese martial arts The long and durable history of martial arts iconography and ritual in Chinese religion suggests something far deeper than mere historical coincidence Avron Boretz argues that martial arts gestures and movements are so deeply embedded in the ritual repertoire in part because they iconify masculine qualities of violence aggressivity and physical prowess the implicit core of Chinese patriline and patriarchy At the same time for actors and audience alike martial arts gestures evoke the mythos of the jianghu a shadowy often violent realm of vagabonds outlaws and masters of martial and magic arts Through the direct bodily practice of martial arts movement and creative rendering of jianghu narratives martial ritual practitioners are able to identify and represent themselves however briefly and incompletely as men of prowess a reward otherwise denied those confined to the lower limits of this deeply patriarchal society Based on fieldwork in China and Taiwan spanning nearly two decades Gods Ghosts and Gangsters offers a thorough and original account of violent ritual and ritual violence in Chinese religion and society Close up sensitive portrayals and the voices of ritual actors themselves mostly working class men many of them members of sworn brotherhoods and gangs convincingly link martial ritual practice to the lives and desires of men on the margins of Chinese society This work is a significant contribution to the study of Chinese ritual and religion the history and sociology of Chinese underworld the history and anthropology of the martial arts and the anthropology of masculinity Ghosts of the Georgia Coast Don Farrant,2002-09
