Terminal Identity Scott Bukatman, 1993

Scott Bukatman's Terminal Identity referring to both the site of the termination of the conventional subject and the birth of a new subjectivity constructed at the computer terminal or television screen puts to rest any lingering doubts of the significance of science fiction in contemporary cultural studies Demonstrating a comprehensive knowledge both of the history of science fiction narrative from its earliest origins and of cultural theory and philosophy Bukatman redefines the nature of human identity in the Information Age Drawing on a wide range of contemporary theories of the postmodern including Fredric Jameson Donna Haraway and Jean Baudrillard Bukatman begins with the proposition that Western culture is suffering a crisis brought on by advanced electronic technologies Then in a series of chapters richly supported by analyses of literary texts visual arts film video television comics computer games and graphics Bukatman takes the reader on an odyssey that traces the postmodern subject from its current crisis through its close encounters with technology and finally to new self recognition This new virtual subject as Bukatman defines it situates the human and the technological as coexistent codependent and mutually defining Synthesizing the most provocative theories of postmodern culture with a truly encyclopedic treatment of the relevant media this volume sets a new standard in the study of science fiction a category that itself may be redefined in light of this work Bukatman not only offers the most detailed map to date of the intellectual terrain of postmodern technology studies he arrives at new frontiers providing a propitious launching point for further inquiries into the relationship of electronic technology and culture

Alien Roger Luckhurst, 2019-07-25 A legendary fusion of science fiction and horror Ridley Scott's Alien 1979 is one of the most enduring films of modern cinema its famously visceral scenes acting like a traumatic wound we seem compelled to revisit Tracing the constellation of talents that came together to produce the film Roger Luckhurst examines its origins as a monster movie script called Star Beast dismissed by many in

Hollywood as B movie trash through to its afterlife in numerous sequels prequels and elaborations Exploring the ways in which Alien compels us to think about otherness Luckhurst demonstrates how and why this interstellar slasher movie this old dark house in space came to coil itself around our darkest imaginings about the fragility of humanity This special edition features original cover artwork by Marta Lech
