Gilles Deleuze And The Ruin Of Representation:

Gilles Deleuze and the Ruin of Representation Dorothea Olkowski, 1999-10-28 Dorothea Olkowski's exploration of the philosophy of Gilles Deleuze clarifies the gifted French thinker's writings for specialists and nonspecialists alike. Deleuze she says accomplished the ruin of representation, the complete overthrow of hierarchic organic thought in philosophy, politics, aesthetics, and ethics as well as in society at large. In Deleuze's philosophy of difference she discovers the source of a new ontology of change which in turn opens up the creation of new modes of life and thought not only in philosophy and feminism but wherever creation is at stake. The work of contemporary artist Mary Kelly has been central to Olkowski's thinking. In Kelly she finds an artist at work whose creative acts are in themselves the ruin of representation as a whole and the text is illustrated with Kelly's art. This original and provocative account of Deleuze contributes significantly to a critical feminist politics and philosophy as well as to an understanding of feminist art.

Deleuze, Bergson, Merleau-Ponty Dorothea E. Olkowski, 2021-09-07 Deleuze, Bergson, Merleau-Ponty: The Logic and Pragmatics of Creation. Affective Life and Perception offers the only full-length examination of the relationships between Deleuze, Bergson, and Merleau-Ponty. Henri Bergson (1859-1941), Maurice Merleau-Ponty (1908-1961), and Gilles Deleuze (1925-1995) succeeded one another as leading voices in French philosophy over a span of 136 years. Their relationship to one another's work involved far more than their overlapping lifetimes. Bergson became both the source of philosophical insight and a focus of criticism for Merleau-Ponty and Deleuze. Deleuze criticized Merleau-Ponty's phenomenology as well as his interest in cognitive and natural science. Author Dorothea Olkowski points out that each of these philosophers situated their thought in relation to their understandings of crucial developments and theories taken up in the history and philosophy of science, and this has been difficult for Continental philosophy to grasp. She articulates the differences between these philosophers with respect to their disparate approaches to the physical sciences and with how their views of science function in relation to their larger philosophical projects. In Deleuze, Bergson, Merleau-Ponty, Olkowski examines the critical areas of the structure of time and memory, the structure of consciousness, and the question of humans' relation to nature. She reveals that these philosophers are working from inside one another's ideas and are making strong claims about time, consciousness, reality, and their effects on humanity that converge and diverge. The result is a clearer picture of the intertwined workings of Continental philosophy and its fundamental engagement with the sciences.

The Universal (in the Realm of the Sensible) Dorothea Olkowski, 2007 The Universal proposes a radically new philosophical system that moves from ontology to ethics. Drawing on the work of De Beauvoir, Sartre, and Le Doeuff among others, and addressing a range of topics from the Asian sex trade to late capitalism, quantum gravity, and Merleau-Ponty's views on cinema, Dorothea Olkowski stretches the mathematical, political, epistemological, and aesthetic limits of continental philosophy and introduces a new perspective on political structures. Straddling a course between formalism and conventionalism, Olkowski develops the concept of an ontological unconscious that arises from our sensible relation to the world the information we absorb and emit that affects our encounters with the environment and others In this realm of the senses or the field of vulnerability defined by our experience with pleasure and pain Olkowski is able to rethink the space time relations put forth by Irigaray's notion of the interval Bergson's recollection Merleau Ponty's idea of the flesh and Deleuze's plane of immanence This aesthetic sense is shared by all humankind and nonhuman entities in the organic and inorganic world The sensible universal can be applied to categories of pure and practical reason experiential binaries of male female and subject object and issues of autonomy moral laws and the regulation of perception Key Thinkers from

Representing Reason Rachel Joffe Falmagne, Marjorie Hass, 2002-10-16 Philosophy's traditional man of reason independent neutral unemotional is an illusion That's because the man of reason ignores one very important thing the woman As feminist philosophy grew in the 1980s and 90s it became clear that the attributes philosophical tradition wrote off as womanly are in fact part of human nature No longer can philosophy maintain the dichotomy between the rational man and the emotional woman but must now examine a more complex human being able to reason and feel Yet feminist philosophy also makes it clear that men and women theorize the world in different ways from different perspectives Representing

Reasons Feminist Theory and Formal Logic collects new and old essays that shed light on the underexplored intersection of logic and feminism The papers in this collection cross over many of the traditional divides between continental and analytic philosophy between philosophical reflection and empirical investigation and between empirical investigations with an individual or societal grain of analysis This is possible because Representing Reasons frames the relationship between logic and feminism in terms of issues rather than historical figures or methodologies As such the articles serve as a model for crossing these divides just as they break down the traditional divide between logic and feminism Architectural Research Addressing Societal Challenges Volume 2 Manuel Jorge Rodrigues Couceiro da Costa,Filipa Roseta,Susana Couceiro da Costa,Joana Pestana Lages,2017-09-19 The EAAE ARCC International Conference held under the aegis of the EAAE European Association for Architectural Education and of the ARCC Architectural Research Centers Consortium is a conference organized every other year in collaboration with one of the member schools universities of those associations alternatively in North America or in Europe The EAAE ARCC Conferences began at the North Carolina State University College of Design Raleigh with a conference on Research in Design Education 1998 followed by conferences in Paris 2000 Montreal 2002 Dublin 2004 Philadelphia 2006 Copenhagen 2008 Washington 2010 Milan 2012 and Honolulu 2014 The conference discussions focus on research experiences in the field of architecture and architectural education providing a critical forum for the dissemination and engagement of current ideas from around the world Fragmentation of the Photographic Image in the Digital Age Daniel Rubinstein,2019-10-08 Fragmentation of the Photographic Image in the Digital Age challenges orthodoxies of photographic theory and practice Beyond understanding the image as a static representation of reality it shows photography as a linchpin of dynamic developments in augmented intelligence neuroscience critical theory and cybernetic cultures Through essays by leading philosophers political theorists software artists media researchers curators and experimental programmers photography emerges not as a mimetic or a recording device but simultaneously as a new type of critical discipline and a new art form that stands at the crossroads of visual art contemporary philosophy and digital technologies Rewriting Difference Elena Tzelepis,Athena Athanasiou,2012-02-01 In this definitive reader prominent scholars reflect on how Luce Irigaray reads the classic discourse of Western metaphysics and also how she is read within and against this discourse Her return to the Greeks through strategies of deconstructing demythifying reconstructing and remythifying is not a nostalgic return to the ideality of Hellenocentric antiquity but rather an affirmatively critical revisiting of this ideality Her persistent return and affective bond to ancient Greek logos mythos and tragedy sheds light on some of the most complex epistemological issues in contemporary theory such as the workings of criticism the language of politics and the politics of language the possibility of social and symbolic transformation the multiple mediations between metropolitan and postcolonial contexts of theory and practice the question of the other and the function of the feminine in Western metaphysics With a foreword by Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak and a chapter by Irigaray responding to her

Sites of Vision David Michael Kleinberg-Levin, 1999 The fourteen contributors to Sites of Vision explore the hypothesis that the nature of visual perception about which philosophers talk must be explicitly recognized as a discursive construction indeed a historical construction in philosophical discourse In recent years scholars from many disciplines have become interested in the construction of the human senses in how the human environment shapes both how and what we perceive Taking a very different approach to the question of construction Sites of Vision turns to language and explores the ways in which the rhetoric of philosophy has formed the nature of vision and how in turn the rhetoric of vision has helped to shape philosophical thought The central role of vision in relation to philosophy is evident in the vocabulary of the discipline in words such as speculation observation insight and reflection in metaphors such as mirroring perspective and point of view and in methodological concepts such as reflective detachment and representation Because the history of vision is so pervasively reflected in the history of philosophy it is possible for both vision and thought to achieve a greater awareness of their genealogy through the history of philosophy The fourteen contributors to Sites of Vision explore the hypothesis that the nature of visual perception about which philosophers talk must be explicitly recognized as a discursive construction indeed a historical construction in philosophical discourse
