Women Screenwriters Today Marsha McCreddie, 2005-12-30 The question of whether women write from a unique perspective has been debated since the silent era McCreddie examines how this female sensibility has been defined and whether in fact it exists at all Such films as Lost in Translation and Monster suggest that women screenwriters are moving in a new direction heading away from the big budget action movies that dominate Hollywood today But action driven genre films like the thrillers of Alexandra Seros seem to belie the perception that women write films that are more dialogue and character driven than those of male screenwriters Whether or not women actually write differently from men and about different topics the author s unique approach working with and through the words and lives of the women screenwriters themselves allows both readers and writers an otherwise unattainable look into the ever growing and ever more essential world of women in Hollywood Over the course of cinematic history women screenwriters have played an essential role in the creation of the films we watch The question of whether women write from a unique perspective has been debated since the silent era Marsha McCreadie examines how this female sensibility has been defined and questions whether in fact it exists at all The emergence of such films as Lost in Translation and Monster would seem to suggest that women screenwriters are moving in a new direction heading away from the big budget action movies that dominate Hollywood today But there can always be found an Alexandra Seros for instance whose thrillers would seem to prove the opposite case Working through these contradictions Marsha McCreadie takes a captivating look at the words and lives of women screenwriters allowing readers an otherwise unattainable look into the ever growing and ever more essential world of women in film Readers interested in film and women s studies will especially enjoy reading Marsha McCreadie s discussions of such films as Little Women The Thomas Crown Affair The Piano Pollock and Under the Tuscan Sun Interviews with major women players in the movie business including Sofia Coppola Lost in Translation and Emma Thompson Sense and Sensibility allow readers a unique chance to learn firsthand how women are trying to enter the business how they pursue and approach the topics they love and how they have managed to survive and prosper in the unforgiving world of modern cinema By talking with writers working in Hollywood Australia New Zealand and Europe Marsha McCreadie provides film fans with an international perspective on the increasingly global film industry

Reality Bites Back Jennifer L. Pozner,2010-10-19 Nearly every night on every major network unscripted but carefully crafted reality TV shows routinely glorify retrograde stereotypes that most people would assume got left behind 35 years ago In Reality Bites Back media critic Jennifer L Pozner aims a critical analytical lens at a trend most people dismiss as harmless fluff She deconstructs reality TV s twisted fairytales to demonstrate that far from being simple guilty pleasures these programs are actually guilty of fomenting gender war ideology and significantly affecting the intellectual and political development of this generation s young viewers She lays out the cultural biases promoted by reality TV about gender race class sexuality and consumerism and explores how those biases shape and reflect our cultural perceptions of who we are what we re valued for and what we should view as our place in society Smart and informative Reality Bites Back arms readers with the tools they need to understand and challenge the stereotypes reality TV reinforces and ultimately to demand accountability from the corporations responsible for this contemporary cultural attack on three decades of feminist progress
