The Pedagogy of Protest Brendan Walsh, 2007 This book provides the first complete account of Patrick Pearse's educational work at St Enda's and St Ita's schools Dublin Extensive use of first hand accounts reveals Pearse as a humane energetic teacher and a forward looking and innovative educational thinker Between 1903 and 1916 Pearse developed a new concept of schooling as an agency of radical pedagogical and social reform later echoed by school founders such as Bertrand Russell This placed him firmly within the tradition of radical educational thought as articulated by Paulo Freire and Henry Giroux The book examines the tension between Pearse's work and his increasingly public profile as an advocate of physical force separatism and by employing previously unknown accounts questions the perception that he influenced his students to become active supporters of militant separatism The book describes the later history of St Enda's revealing the ambivalence of post independence administrations and shows how Pearse's work which has long been neglected by historians has had a direct influence on a later generation of school founders up to the present on the principles and values of social justice democracy and critical inquiry Teacher education they argue involves a commitment to critical intellectual work that subjects some deeply entrenched assumptions beliefs habits routines and practices to closer scrutiny The contributing authors expose how ideology and power operate in seemingly blameless rational ways to perpetuate social hierarchies based on class gender sexuality race and culture
