Conical Intersect Peter Muir,2017-07-05 In this in depth analysis Peter Muir argues that Gordon Matta Clark s Conical Intersect 1975 is emblematic of Henri Lefebvre s understanding of art s function in relation to urban space By engaging with Lefebvre s theory in conjunction with the perspectives of other writers such as Michel de Certeau Jacques Derrida and George Bataille the book elicits a story that presents the artwork s significance origins and legacies Conical Intersect is a multi media artwork which involves the intersections of architecture sculpture film and photography as well as being a three dimensional model that reflects aspects of urban art and architectural theory along with a number of cultural and historiographic discourses which are still present and active This book navigates these many complex narratives by using the central hole of Conical Intersect as its focal point this apparently vacuous circle around which the events documents and other historical or theoretical references surrounding Matta Clark s project are perpetually in circulation Thus Conical Intersect is imagined as an insatiable absence around which discourses continually form dissipate and resolve Muir argues that Conical Intersect is much more than an artistic hole Due to its location at Plateau Beaubourg in Paris it is simultaneously an object of art and an instrument of social critique Object to Be Destroyed Pamela M.

Lee,2001-08-24 In this first critical account of Matta Clark s work Pamela M Lee considers it in the context of the art of the 1970s particularly site specific conceptual and minimalist practices and its confrontation with issues of community property the alienation of urban space the right to the city and the ideologies of progress that have defined modern building programs Although highly regarded during his short life and honored by artists and architects today the American artist Gordon Matta Clark 1943 78 has been largely ignored within the history of art Matta Clark is best remembered for site specific projects known as building cuts Sculptural transformations of architecture produced through direct cuts into buildings scheduled for demolition these works now exist only as sculptural fragments photographs and film and video documentations Matta Clark is also remembered as a catalytic force in the creation of SoHo in the early 1970s Through loft activities site projects at the exhibition space 112 Greene Street and his work at the restaurant Food he participated in the production of a new social and artistic space Have art historians written so little about Matta Clark s work because of its ephemerality or as Pamela M Lee argues because of its historiographic political and social dimensions What did the activity of carving up a building in anticipation of its destruction suggest about the conditions of art making architecture and urbanism in the 1970s What was one to make of the paradox attendant on its making that the production of the object was contingent upon its ruination How do these projects address the very writing of history a history that imagines itself building toward an ideal work in the service of progress In this first critical account of Matta Clark s work Lee considers it in the context of the art of the 1970s particularly site specific conceptual and minimalist practices and its confrontation with issues of community property the alienation of urban space the right to the city and the ideologies of progress that have defined modern building programs

Art Of The Postmodern Era Irving Sandler,2018-05-30 Sandler discusses the major and minor artists and their works movements ideas attitudes and styles and the social and cultural context of the period He covers post modernist art theory the art market and consumer society American and European art and artists are included The Unmaking of Home in Contemporary Art Claudette Lauzon,2017-04-24 In a world where the notion of home is more traumatizing than it is comforting artists are using this literal and figurative space to reframe human responses to trauma Building on the scholarship of key art historians and theorists such as Judith Butler and Mieke Bal Claudette Lauzon embarks upon a transnational analysis of contemporary artists who challenge the assumption that home is a stable site of belonging Lauzon's boundary breaking discussion of artists including Krzysztof Wodiczko Santiago Sierra Doris Salcedo and Yto Barrada posits that contemporary art offers a unique set of responses to questions of home and belonging in an increasingly unwelcoming world From the legacies of Colombia's dirty war to migrant North African workers crossing the Mediterranean The Unmaking of Home in Contemporary Art bears witness to the suffering of others whose overriding notion of home reveals the universality of human vulnerability and the limits of empathy Gordon Matta-Clark Frances Richard,2019-03-26

Bringing a poet's perspective to an artist's archive this highly original book examines wordplay in the art and thought of American artist Gordon Matta Clark 1943-1978 A pivotal figure in the postminimalist generation who was also the son of a prominent Surrealist Matta Clark was a leader in the downtown artists community in New York in the 1970s and is widely seen as a pioneer of what has come to be known as social practice art He is celebrated for his architectural environments and performances and the films photographs drawings and sculptural fragments with which his site specific work was documented In studies of his career the artist's provocative and vivid language is referenced constantly Yet the verbal aspect of his practice has not previously been examined in its own right Blending close readings of Matta Clark's visual and verbal creations with reception history and critical biography this extensively researched study engages with the linguistic and semiotic forms in Matta Clark's art forms that activate what he called the poetics of psycho locus and total semiotic system Examining notes statements titles letters and interviews in light of what they reveal about his work at large Frances Richard unearths archival biographical and historical information linking Matta Clark to Conceptualist peers and Surrealist and Dada forebears Gordon Matta Clark Physical Poetics explores the paradoxical durability of Matta Clark's language and its role in an aggressively physical oeuvre whose major works have been destroyed American Artists Engage the Built

Environment, 1960-1979 Susannah Bieber,2023-07-31 This volume reframes the development of US American avant garde art of the long 1960s from minimal and pop art to land art conceptual art site specific practices and feminist art in the context of contemporary architectural discourses Susannah Bieber analyzes the work of seven major artists Donald Judd Robert Grosvenor Claes Oldenburg Robert Smithson Lawrence Weiner Gordon Matta Clark and Mary Miss who were closely associated with the formal aesthetic innovations of the period While these individual artists came to represent diverse movements Bieber argues that all of them were attracted to the field of architecture the work of architects engineers preservationists landscape designers and urban planners because they believed these practices more directly shaped the social and material spaces of everyday life This book's contribution to the field of art history is thus twofold First it shows that the avant garde of the long 1960s did not simply develop according to an internal logic of art but also as part of broader sociocultural discourses about buildings and cities Second it exemplifies a methodological synthesis between social art history and poststructural formalism that is foundational to understanding the role of art in the construction of a more just and egalitarian society The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history architecture urbanism and environmental humanism

Material Matters Katie Lloyd Thomas, 2006-12-05 Bringing together texts and work by theorists and practitioners who are making material central to their work this book reflects the diverse areas of inquiry which are expanding current material discourse Focusing on the cultural political economic technological and intellectual forces which shape material practices in architecture the contributors draw on disciplines ranging from philosophy history and pedagogy to art practice and digital and low tech fabrication By paying critical attention to material a wide range of issues emerge which are otherwise excluded from architectural discourse issues that shape and determine the buildings we make the processes we use and the ways we understand them Beautifully illustrated and designed this book is a unique collection which will be of great interest to architectural practitioners and theorists who want to consider the wider implications of material practice and to students who are developing their own approach to making buildings

The Architecture of Error Francesca Hughes, 2014-10-31

Why the rise of redundant precision in architecture and the accompanying fear of error are key to understanding the discipline's needs, anxieties, and desires. When architects draw even brick walls to six decimal places with software designed to cut lenses, it is clear that the logic that once organized relations between precision and material error in construction has unraveled. Precision already a promiscuous term seems now to have been uncoupled from its contract with truthfulness. Meanwhile, error and the always political space of its dissent has reconfigured itself. In The Architecture of Error, Francesca Hughes argues that behind the architect's acute fetishization of redundant precision lies a special fear of physical error. What if we were to consider the pivotal cultural and technological transformations of modernism to have been driven not so much by the causes its narratives declare, she asks, as by an unspoken horror of loss of control over error, material life, and everything that matter stands for. Hughes traces the rising intolerance of material vagaries from the removal of ornament to digitalized fabrication that produced the blind rejection of organic materials, the proliferation of material testing, and the rhetorical obstacles that blighted cybernetics. Why is it, she asks, that the more we cornered physical error, the more we feared it? Hughes's analysis of redundant precision exposes an architecture of fear whose politics must be called into question. Proposing error as a new category for architectural thought, Hughes draws on other disciplines and practices that have interrogated precision and failure, citing the work of scientists Nancy Cartwright and Evelyn Fox Keller and visual artists Gordon Matta Clark, Barbara Hepworth, Rachel Whiteread, and others. These non-architect practitioners, she argues, show that error need not be excluded and precision can be made accountable.
