moments in a collective history that unites East and West even as it divides them Telling stories about a shared past establishing foundational myths and finding commonalities of experience are pivotal steps in the construction of national identity Such nation building is always incomplete but the cinema provides an important forum in which notions of German history and national identity can be consumed negotiated and contested This book looks at history films made since 1989 exploring how utopianism and political dissent have shaped German identity It studies the genre including popular successes critical successes and perceived failures as a set of texts and a discursive network gauging which conventions and storylines are resilient At issue is the overriding question to what extent do these films contribute to a narrative that legitimizes the German nation state Mary Elizabeth O'Brien is Professor of German and The Courtney and Steven Ross Chair in Interdisciplinary Studies at Skidmore College

Historical Dictionary of Italian Cinema Gino Moliterno, 2020-12-08 Italian cinema is now regarded as one of the great cinemas of the world Historically however its fortunes have varied Following a brief moment of glory in the early silent era Italian cinema appeared to descend almost into irrelevance in the early 1920s A strong revival of the industry which gathered pace during the 1930s was abruptly truncated by the advent of World War II The end of the war however initiated a renewal as films such as Roma città aperta Rome Open City Sciusci Shoeshine 1946 and Ladri di biciclette Bicycle Thieves 1948 flagbearers of what soon came to be known as Neorealism attracted unprecedented international acclaim and a reputation that only continued to grow in the following years as Italian films were feted worldwide Ironically they were celebrated nowhere more than in the United States where Italian films consistently garnered the lion's share of the Oscars with Lina Wertmüller becoming the first woman to ever be nominated for the Best Director award This second edition of Historical Dictionary of Italian Cinema contains a chronology an introduction and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 400 cross-referenced entries on major movements directors actors actresses film genres producers industry organizations and key films This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about Italian Cinema
