The first chapter discusses the origins of modern development thought while the second chapter talks about how formal schooling can serve as an agent of change. Chapters 3, 4, and 5 cover the various dimensions of development which are economic growth, employment, quality of life, and political system. Chapter 6 discusses strategies for educational reform while Chapter 7 deals with the evaluation of development policy. Expanded discussions of literacy programs, the role of the state in educational and development planning, and new material on the evaluation of educational reforms and development strategies complement the inclusion throughout of the most recent data and studies available. A new chapter on women education and development directs attention to a dimension of development which until recently has been largely neglected.
