Education Unemployment And The Future Of Work:

Education, Unemployment and the Future of the Work, 1983 Education, Unemployment and the Future of Work
Anthony Gordon Watts, 1983 Education, Training and the Future of Work II Mike Flude, Sandy Sieminski, 2013-10-18 This volume focuses on the recent changes in education and training policy mainly in the UK The considerable developments of past years and the ways in which they have affected both education and training are examined The contributors analyse the methods by which we educate our workforce and look closely at the kind of training now offered to those in work The chapters in this reader cover the role of the state how economic factors influence education national education and training policy the political factor Other countries including Germany are looked at and there is reflection on the ways in which the new industry led qualifications such as NVQs have fared There is careful analysis as to how much the political climate of the time influenced developments There is thorough research to back up claims made throughout the book and many practical examples are referred to What emerges is an incisive examination of current trends in education and the workplace

Education, Training and the Future of Work I John Ahier, Geoff Esland, 2013-10-18 A central claim of this volume is that public policy in education and training can only be properly understood if it is seen in relation to prevailing economic and employment conditions It has become increasingly apparent that the neo liberal economic policies pursued by Western governments during the 1980s and 1990s have led to a growing world wide work crisis Unemployment levels particularly in Europe remain persistently high and for those in employment job insecurity and long working hours have become the norm The response of UK governments has been to promote flexibility in employment practices while proclaiming the importance of improving skill levels through education and training This volume challenges the adequacy of such an approach and asks whether reliance on education and training reforms without additional political intervention in economic processes is capable of reversing current trends Issues covered in this reader include the impact of globalization on employment trends neo liberal and neo Keynesian approaches to employment policy political reforms in education and training institutions the impact of flexibilization on private life and the family The two volumes in this series are readers for the Open University course Education Training and the Future of Work E837 a module of the MA in Education The companion volume is Education Training and the Future of Work II Developments in Vocational Education and Training John Ahier is Lecturer in Education at the Open University Geoff Esland is Director of the Centre for Sociology and Social Research at the Open University and Course team Chair of E837 The Future of Work Charles B. Handy, 1984 Examines the place of work in society and discusses the possible future development of employment in Great Britain Canadian Education E. Brian Titley, 1990 Technology and the Future of Work Balwant Singh Mehta, Bharat Singh, 2024-10-07 This book examines how the progress of digital technology is transforming the world of work skill demand labour market institutions and regulations in countries like India It studies the challenges opportunities and current and future contributions of digital technologies The volume poses salient questions regarding the ICT sector I4 0 technologies the gig economy remote work and the regulatory environment and interrogates the policy and regulatory measures needed to promote more inclusive and decent work in the future Part of the Towards Sustainable Futures series this book will be an essential read for scholars and researchers of economics sustainable development sociology of work labour economics Indian economy public policy and human resource management It will also be extremely useful to policymakers government organisations civil society organisations and those in the corporate sector
