Reconstructing the "Uni-versity" Harvey J. Graff, 2025-09-14 Slogans, myths and isolated anecdotes are inadequate substitutes for documented history and contextual understanding. Literature on the history of higher education is dominated by a historical and contextually ignorant slogans. Seldom acknowledged in discussions of the decline or failure of the modern university is 1 how long it has been going on at least since the 1960s and 2 universities own complicity in this long complicated and contradictory process. Myths intertwine inseparably with slogans to echo yet another lost cause. Our collective as well as individual pasts provide essential lessons if we know how to read and learn from them. More complicated is imagining a plausible better future for universities. In Reconstructing the University: From the Ashes of the Mega and Multi-versity to the Futures of Higher Education Harvey J. Graff bringing experience from over 50 years as a professor provides an accurate history of higher education redefining the issues and terms to establish a new agenda.

Knowledge for Social Change Lee Benson, 2017-07 Employing history, social theory and a detailed contemporary case study Knowledge for Social Change argues for fundamentally reshaping research universities to function as democratic, civic and community engaged institutions dedicated to advancing learning and knowledge for social change. The authors focus on significant contributions to learning made by Francis Bacon, Benjamin Franklin, Seth Low, Jane Addams, William Rainey Harper and John Dewey as well as their own work at Penn's Netter Center for Community Partnerships to help create and sustain democratically engaged colleges and universities for the public good. Knowledge for Social Change highlights university assisted community schools to effect a thoroughgoing change of research universities that will contribute to more democratic schools, communities and societies. The authors also call on democratic minded academics to create and sustain a global movement dedicated to advancing learning for the relief of man's estate, an iconic phrase by Francis Bacon that emphasized the continued betterment of the human condition and to realize Dewey's vision of an organic Great Community composed of participatory, democratic, collaborative and interdependent societies.
