F. Caddy, Gary D. Sharp, 1986-01-01 The text is intended as supplementary reading for fisheries workers especially in developing countries who do not always have ready access to current literature on applied marine ecology An attempt is made to develop a wide range of concepts in a form that will hopefully encourage their incorporation into a practical decision making context The food web and associated trophic interactions form the principal theme in an approach that gives equal emphasis to qualitative as well as the less easily measured quantitative considerations An attempt is made to illustrate the consequences of the aggregated nature of much of marine production as well as the subsequent dispersal of production in space and time and how these processes affect the potential for economic harvest of commercial components of the ecosystem Separate sections touch on environmental influences on production relevant spatial and temporal scales for ecosystem analysis life history strategies diversity and stability the concepts of the ecological niche the community and the assemblage and outline some first steps towards quantifying production in marine ecosystems Different approaches to representing trophic and other interactions are discussed with examples from the literature Reference is made to several ecological subsystems in order to illustrate the main concepts presented These include the mangrove ecosystem the arcto boreal macrophyte community a mediterranean demersal fish assemblage and the oceanic ecosystem associated with high seas tuna stocks In practical terms it is concluded that the first and simplest approach to multispecies resource management is not necessarily the manipulation of individual food web components but the identification mapping and conservation of critical habitats especially centres of local production and their associated ecological dissipation structures Ecology, Environmental Science & Conservation Singh J.S., Singh S.P. & Gupta S.R., 2014 Over the years the scope of our scientific understanding and technical skills in ecology and environmental science have widened significantly with increasingly greater emphasis on societal issues In this book an attempt has been made to give basic concepts of ecology environmental science and various aspects of natural resource conservation The topics covered primarily deal with environmental factors affecting organisms adaptations biogeography ecology of species populations and species interactions biotic communities and ecosystems environmental pollution stresses caused by toxics global environmental change exotic species invasion conservation of biodiversity ecological restoration impact assessment application of remote sensing and geographical information system for analysis and management of natural resources and approaches of ecological economics

The main issues have been discussed within the framework of sustainability considering humans as part of ecosystems and recognising that sustainable development requires integration of ecology with social sciences for policy formulation and implementation

Barrow,2016-07-01 First published in 1988 There are many excellent texts on water supply and irrigation engineering irrigation economics agricultural development and the problems which often plague such efforts Few syntheses of such writings have been made despite a clear need for them from people interested in water resources and agricultural development students of geography economics development studies and agricultural management administrators planners and aid agency staff This book attempts to provide a broad interdisciplinary introduction for such people Themes in Biogeography J. A. Taylor,2019-10-01 Originally published in 1984 Themes in Biogeography presents a broad examination of biogeographical themes extending across the field of plant and animal ecology and geography The book provides a detailed and unique investigation into life and its environment and delves into not just geography and ecology but provides an interdisciplinary look at these areas across both biological and environmental sciences The book examines biogeographical themes applying them to areas of research in soils and climate change as well as in depth studies of plant communities and their animal associates The book also discusses plants and animals through their taxonomic distribution and deals with factors of plant geography using both global and regional examples This book will be of interest to biologists ecologists and geographers alike Fundamental Toxicology John H Duffus,Howard G J Worth,2007-10-31 This book is a core introductory text to the subject of toxicology and the use of toxicological information for risk assessment by chemists Increasingly chemists are being required by law to advise on the safe handling of chemicals Few chemists however have been trained in toxicology and the subject is often not covered in a chemistry degree curriculum It is to address this problem that this book has been written Fundamental Toxicology for Chemists contains a proposed curriculum for teaching toxicology to chemists which gives a firm grounding in the basics With this book as a guide lecturers will be able to design courses that cover all their students needs In addition students in all areas of chemistry will find it invaluable Fundamental Toxicology for Chemists offers a unique assessment of the subject specifically for chemists It is both comprehensible and fully comprehensive covering developing areas such as reproduction behavioural and ecological toxicology The book has been approved by the

IUPAC International Union of Pure and Applied Chemists committees on toxicology and the teaching of chemistry It has a comprehensive index and an extensive glossary of terms and will have lasting value to all chemists as a reference and a text book

Seeding the Universe with Life: Securing Our Cosmological Future Michael Noah Mautner,2000 It is the human purpose to propagate Life In this popular science title a well recognized researcher describes how we can seed new solar systems with microbial representatives of our family of organic life The book also describes a life centered astroethics that will motivate these missions based on the unity of all gene protein life a common ancestry a unique complexity and the coincidence of physical laws that allow biology giving life a special place in Nature a shared drive for survival and procreation and a shared future As part of this family it is our purpose to safeguard and expand life in the universe To advance this purpose Professor Mautner pioneered research on the fertilities of extra terrestrial materials in asteroids meteorites The results show that many microorganisms and even plants can grow on resources found commonly in space which are basically similar to Earth materials The conclusions are significant If life can flourish on Earth life can flourish throughout the universe Based on the results on microbes and meteorites the author estimates the ultimate amounts of life that our missions can induce in the cosmological future A life centered astroethics can assure that our descendants will be there to enjoy this future
