Economic Values And The Natural:

Economic Valuation and the Natural World David William Pearce, 1992 Economic valuation can help improve decisions about protecting the environment By inputting values to unpriced goods it can make public choices more cost efficient and thus allow limited public income to be optimally spent Economic Values and the Natural World David William Pearce, Jules N. Pretty, 1993 The author looks at the challenge facing agriculture today and details the concepts and characteristics of alternative sustainable agricultural practices Empirical evidence from a diverse range of agro ecological and community setting show the impact of more sustainable practices In addition existing policy frameworks and institutional processes are considered and alternatives which are known to work are presented Economic values from the natural and cultural heritage in the Nordic countries Fredrik Gisselman, Scott Cole, Josefin Blanck, Matleena Kniivilä, 2017-04-07 Natural and cultural heritage represent key assets that deliver different kind of benefits to citizens in the Nordic countries This report illustrates the economic values at stake and discusses the important and inevitable key trade offs facing decision makers charged with managing these assets The report has three goals to briefly describe existing conservation measures in the Nordic countries to illustrate the type and magnitude of economic values generated by these measures and to discuss key trade offs and policy implications arising from the selection of measures which lead to welfare impacts depending on the level of human use The valuation studies reviewed in the report demonstrate real economic values associated with the experiences that natural and cultural heritage provides both in terms of increased welfare and regional economic impacts

Economic Values and the Natural World David William Pearce, Professor David W Pearce, 1993 The context of economic valuation What is economic valuation Valuation and discounting the future Valuation in practice Estimating Economic Values for Nature Vincent Kerry Smith, 1996-06 Estimating Economic Values for Nature presents in one volume a collection of V Kerry Smith's papers prepared over 25 years dealing with the theory and practice of non market valuation for environmental resources Taken together the papers explore the conceptual basis the implementation process and empirical performance of all available methods of measuring economic values for the services of nature and how these values are constructed from people's choices The issues discussed in this volume include travel cost recreation demand averting behaviour household production hedonic property value hedonic wage and contingent valuation methods These essays describe what has been learned from past benefit analysis using meta analysis as well as the issues at the frontier of current research in the area This important volume will be welcomed by environmental and public economists as well as practitioners of cost benefit analysis as an authoritative and comprehensive discussion of non market valuation Economic Values and the Natural Environment David William Pearce, 1987 Balancing the returns to catchment management : the economic value of conserving natural forests in Sekong, Lao PDR, Economic Valuation Of Natural Resources Rebecca L Johnson, 2019-04-24 Allocation of natural resources has become a prominent concern at the local state and federal level Competing uses for increasingly scarce resources are requiring that the relative values of those uses be investigated Although many types of value are important in decision making this book is concerned with the economic value of natural resources Economic values for certain natural resources are readily observable in markets For others however market prices are not available and estimates of value must be made through nonmarket valuation techniques The progress that has been made in improving the theory methods and applications of these techniques has been remarkable Along with the progress however come new problems that must be addressed The chapters presented in this volume are a collection of examples of both progress and problems

Implementing Ecological Integrity Philippe Crabbé, Alan J. Holland, Lech Ryszkowski, L. Westra, 2012-12-06 This book contains some of the papers which were presented at the NATO Science Environmental Security Advanced Research Workshop on Implementing Ecological Integrity Restoring Regional and Global Environmental and Human Health held in Budapest from June 26 to July 1 1999 All papers presented are summarized in the Introduction and in some cases shorter versions are published A multidisciplinary core of American and Western European participants had met over the preceeding years to discuss the concept of ecological integrity The term ecological integrity is found in environmental policy documents but generally is not defined It competes with other recent terms or environmental narratives such as ecosystem health and sustainable development and also with older ones such as conservation Therefore it is deemed important not only to sort out the definitions of these concepts but also to find out whether their practical implications differ Moreover it was interesting to find out whether participants from Central and Eastern European Countries CEEC and more generally from NATO partner countries would be first responsive to this concept and second would hold different views of it This explains the broad albeit not always consistent range of topics which are covered in this book The core group learned that CEEC and other NATO partners participants were responsive to the concept but that they were less exclusive of human influence
