Effigies Against The Light:

Interpreting Medieval Effigies Brian Gittos, Moira Gittos, 2019-05-31 This innovative study examines and analyses the wealth of evidence provided by the monumental effigies of Yorkshire from the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries including some of very high sculptural merit More than 200 examples survive from the historic county in varying states of preservation Together they present a picture of the people able to afford them at a time when the county was frequently at the forefront of national politics and administration during the Scottish wars Many monuments display remarkable realism depicting people as they themselves wished to be remembered and are accompanied by a great volume of contemporary sculptural and architectural detail Stylistic analysis of the effigies themselves has been employed better to understand how they relate to one another and give a firmer basis for their dating and production patterns They are considered in relation to the history and material culture of the area at the time they were produced A more soundly based appreciation of the sculptor's intentions and the aspirations of patrons is sought through close attention to the full extent of the visible evidence afforded by the monuments and their surroundings The corpus is of sufficient size to permit meaningful analysis to shed light on aspects such as personal aspiration social networks patterns of supply and production piety and wealth It demonstrates the value of funerary monuments to the wider understanding of medieval society The text will be accompanied by a comprehensive catalogue making available a substantial body of research for the first time The study considers the relationship between the monuments and related sculpture architecture painting glass etc together with contemporary documentary evidence where it is available This material and the underlying methodology are now available to illuminate monuments of the medieval period across the whole country Its methods and messages extend understanding of all monuments broadening its potential audience from the purely local to everyone concerned with medieval sculpture and church archaeology

The Sash on the Mersey Mervyn Busted, 2023-11-16 The book examines how an organisation originating in late eighteenth century Ireland became a significant and controversial element in Liverpool history Using a wide range of sources including rarely accessed Orange Order records it places the Order within an early nineteenth century Liverpool context of apocalyptic evangelical Protestantism a labour market dominated by irregular dock work a growing influx of immigrant Catholic Irish marked residential segregation and sporadic civil conflict It explores how the Order survived official disapproval dissolution and schism to become deeply rooted within Protestant working class communities It analyses the attractions of lodge life the appeal of ritual colourful regalia and 12th July processions the intense social bonding within lodges the mutual support provided in adversity and measure taken to guard and transmit their world view The intense royalism and patriotism of the Order and its troubled relationship with the Church of England are examined plus its role in sustaining the working class Tory vote which contributed to a century long Conservative hegemony in city politics The book concludes with the cultural and socio economic changes in British society which marginalised the core concerns of the Order triggering decline in strength visibility and significance in civic life

Shaping Remembrance from Shakespeare to Milton Patricia Phillippy, 2018-06-14 Whether situated in churches or circulating in more flexible mobile works manuscript or printed texts jewels or rosaries personal bequests or antique rarities monuments were ubiquitous in post Reformation England In this period of religious change the unsettled meanings of sacred sites and artifacts encouraged a new conception of remembrance and with it changed relationships between devotional and secular writings arts and identities Beginning in the parish church Shaping Remembrance from Shakespeare to Milton moves beyond that space to see remembrance as shaping dynamic systems within which early modern men and women experienced loss and recollection Removing monuments from parochial or antiquarian concerns this study re imagines them as pervasively involved with other commemorative works not least the writings of our most canonical authors These far reaching flexible chapters combine three critical strands religion materiality and gender to describe the arts of remembrance as material and textual remains of living webs of connection in which creators and creations are mutually involved
