Electrochemistry J. A. Friend, F. Gutmann, 2013-09-17 Electrochemistry is a collection of papers presented at the First Australian Conference on Electrochemistry held in Sydney on February 13 15 and in Hobart on February 18 20 1963 jointly sponsored by The Royal Australian Chemical Institute The University of New South Wales and The University of Tasmania This conference highlights the numerous advances in the field of electrochemistry This book is organized into 12 parts encompassing 70 chapters The first parts deal with the solid state reactions and processes in electrochemistry the thermodynamic aspects of electrolytes and the role of electrode in corrosion control The succeeding parts explore the concepts of equilibrium and non equilibrium theory of double layers as well as the various electroanalytical methods used in electrochemistry including polarography potentiometry and coulometry Other parts consider the areas of application of electrochemistry such as in electroplating anodizing fuel cell electrowinning and electrorefining The remaining chapters are devoted to non aqueous electrolytes molten salts and electrode and electrochemical processes Electrochemists and physicists will find this book invaluable

Welch, 1977-01-01 This volume presents plenary lectures and invited papers that were delivered during the Fourth Australian

Conference on Electro chemistry held at The Flinders University of South Australia 16-20th February 1976. Electrochemistry for a Futur e Society was selected as the Conference theme since the organising committee were mindful of the rapid change in technological perspective which the world now faces. We no longer have a prospect of uncontrolled spontaneous expansion and change as the result of technological enterprise. Rather we face the task of attempting to reach a state of very restricted growth. In the next few decades special accent must be placed on minimizing pollution and maximizing the efficient utilization of all available energy sources. With this in mind the Conference organisers considered that a conventional electrochemistry symposium with its divisions into the various academic aspects would be less relevant than a meeting devoted to aspects of electrochemistry which may underlie parts of the new and necessary technology for the future state of affairs. What has actually been achieved by the Conference organisers is a balance between the ideals expressed and the resulting response from electrochemists. This response has a bias which reflects the dominance of certain resources e.g. metallic minerals within Australia. Consequently the papers included in Trends in Electrochemistry cover subjects which are of both global and local concern.
