Fashion and Everyday Life Cheryl Buckley, Hazel Clark, 2017-02-09 Taking cultural theorist Michel de Certeau's notion of the everyday as a critical starting point this book considers how fashion shapes and is shaped by everyday life Looking historically for the imprint of fashion within everyday routines such as going to work or shopping or in leisure activities like dancing the book identifies the fashion system of the ordinary in which clothing has a distinct role in the making of self and identity Exploring the period from 1890 to 2010 the study is located in London and New York cities that emerged as as socially ethnically and culturally diverse as well as increasingly fashionable The book re-focuses fashion discourse away from well-trodden power-laden dynamics towards a re-evaluation of time memory and above all history and their relationship to fashion and everyday life The importance of place and space and issues of gender race and social class provides the broader framework revealing fashion as both routine and exceptional and as an increasingly significant part of urban life By focusing on key themes such as clothing the city what is worn on the streets the imagining and performing of multiple identities by dressing up and down going out and showing off Fashion and Everyday Life makes a unique contribution to the literature of fashion studies fashion history cultural studies and beyond

Radical Space Debra Benita Shaw, Maggie Himm, 2016-03-24 The spatial turn in the Humanities and Social Sciences has produced a considerable body of work which re assesses space beyond the fixed Cartesian coordinates of Modernity and the nation state In the process space has been revealed as a productively contested concept with methodological implications across and between disciplines The resulting understandings of space as fluid changeable and responsive to the situation of bodies both human and non human has prepared the ground for radical concepts and uses of space with implications for how we conceive of contemporary lived reality Rather than conceiving of bodies as constantly rendered docile within the spaces of the post industrial nation state Radical Space reveals how activists and artists have deployed these theoretical tools to examine and contest spatial practice Bringing together contributions from academics across the humanities and social sciences together with creative artists this dynamically multidisciplinary collection demonstrates this radicalization of space through explorations of environmental camps new explorations of psychogeography creative interventions in city space and mapping the extra terrestrial onto the mundane spaces of everyday existence
