Everyday Writing:

Everyday Writing, 2001-08 Gives students practice in real life writing      Everyday Writing Center Anne Ellen Geller, Michele Eodice, Frankie Condon, Meg Carroll, Elizabeth H. Boquet, 2007-04-01 The Everyday Writing Center challenges some of the most comfortable traditions in its field and it does so with a commitment and persuasiveness that one seldom sees in scholarly discussion The book at its core is an argument for a new writing center consciousness one that makes the most of the writing center's unique and uniquely fluid identity Writing center specialists live with a liminality that has been acknowledged but not fully explored in the literature Their disciplinary identity is with the English department but their mission is cross disciplinary their research is pedagogical but they often report to central administration Their education is in humanities but their administrative role demands constant number crunching This fluid identity explains why Trickster an icon of spontaneity shape shifting and the creative potential of chaos has come to be a favorite cultural figure for the authors of this book Adapting Lewis Hyde and others these authors use Trickster to develop a theme of ordinary disruptions the everyday as a source of provocative learning moments that can liberate both student writers and writing center staff At the same time the authors parlay Etienne Wenger's concept of community of practice into an ethos for a dynamic learner centered pedagogy that is especially well suited to the peculiar teaching situation of the writing center Through Trickster they question not only accepted approaches to writing center pedagogy but conventional approaches to race time leadership and collaboration as well They encourage their field to exploit the creative potential in ordinary events that are normally seen as disruptive or defeating and they challenge traditions in the field that tend to isolate a writing center director from the department and campus Yet all is not random for the authors anchor this high risk high yield approach in their commitment to a version of Wenger's community of practice Conceiving of themselves their colleagues student writers and student tutors as co learners engaged together in a dynamic life of learning the authors find a way to ground the excess and randomness of the everyday while advancing an ethic of mutual respect and self challenge Committed to testing a region beyond the edge of convention the authors of The Everyday Writing Center constantly push themselves and their field toward deeper more significant research and more reflective dynamic teaching      Everyday Writing Midge Raymond, 2012-05 Everyday Writing offers more than 150 prompts to fit into any writer's life from five minute prompts you can do in a grocery store line to lengthy prompts that are perfect for a writing retreat      Everyday Writing in the Graeco-Roman East Roger S. Bagnall, 2012-04-23 This is the most important and original study of literacy and the function of writing in ancient society to have appeared in the last twenty years In a masterly and detailed survey of evidence from across the ancient Mediterranean world Bagnall shows how and why routine writing was essential to social and administrative infrastructures from the Hellenistic to the Byzantine periods Essential reading for anyone interested in understanding the role and function of the written text in human social behaviour Alan Bowman Camden Professor of Ancient History Oxford University This richly illustrated and annotated book takes the reader on an extended tour from North Africa to Afghanistan Bagnall's theme is the ubiquity and pervasiveness of writing in the long millennium from Alexander to the Arab conquests and beyond Briskly challenging the currently fashionable low estimates on the extent of literacy and the prevalence of writing in the ancient world Bagnall surveys and explains what has survived and what has been lost and why This is a book both for specialists and for the general reader sure to inspire admiration and reaction James G Keenan Professor of Classical Studies Loyola University Chicago Bagnall's book is not only a study of everyday writing in the Graeco Roman East but also an investigation into how our documentation has been distorted by patterns of conservation and discovery and the choices made by modern editors The sound reflections of an historian on the sources of history Jean Luc Fournet Ecole Pratique des Hautes Etudes Paris
