she was one of the most attentive and unsentimental analysts of the infant body and the child's emerging personality. Tracing key moments in Cassatt's long career, art historian Griselda Pollock highlights Cassatt's extensive artistic training across Europe, analysing her profound study of Old Masters while revealing her intelligent understanding of both Manet and Courbet. Pollock also provides close readings of Cassatt's paintings and her singular vision of women in modernity. Now revised with a new preface, updates to the bibliography, and colour illustrations throughout, this book offers a rich perspective on the core concerns of a major Impressionist artist through the frames of class, gender, space, and difference. Mary Cassatt Barbara Herkert, 2015-10-27 A lyrical biography of Mary Cassatt, the free-spirited Impressionist painter. A Companion to Nineteenth-Century Art Michelle Facos, 2018-09-10 A comprehensive review of art in the first truly modern century. A Companion to Nineteenth-Century Art contains contributions from an international panel of noted experts to offer a broad overview of both national and transnational developments, as well as new and innovative investigations of individual art works, artists, and issues. Women Building History Wanda Corn, 2023-09-01 This handsomely illustrated book is a welcome addition to the history of women during America's Gilded Age. Wanda M. Corn takes as her topic the grand neo-classical Woman's Building at the 1893 Columbian Exposition in Chicago, a structure celebrating modern woman's progress in education, arts, and sciences. Looking closely at the paintings and sculptures women artists made to decorate the structure, including the murals by Mary Cassatt and Mary MacMonnies, Corn uncovers an unspoken but consensual program to visualize a history of the female sex and promote an expansion of modern woman's opportunities. Beautifully written, with informative sidebars by Annelise K. Madsen and artist biographies by Charlene G. Garfinkle, this volume illuminates the originality of the public images female artists created in 1893 and inserts them into the complex discourse of fin de siècle woman's politics. The Woman's Building offered female artists an unprecedented opportunity to create public art and imagine an historical narrative that put women rather than men at its center

Redefining Gender in American Impressionist Studio Paintings Kirstin Ringelberg, 2017-07-05 Were late nineteenth century gender boundaries as restrictive as is generally held In Redefining Gender in American Impressionist Studio Paintings Work Place Domestic Space Kirstin Ringelberg argues that it is time to bring the current re evaluation of the notion of separate spheres to these images Focusing on studio paintings by American artists William Merritt Chase and Mary Fairchild MacMonnies Low she explores how the home based painting studio existed outside of entrenched gendered divisions of public and private space and argues that representations of these studios are at odds with standard perceptions of the images their creators and the concept of gender in the nineteenth century Unlike most of their bourgeois contemporaries Gilded Age artists whether male or female often melded the worlds of work and home Through analysis of both paintings and literature of the time Ringelberg reveals how art history continues to support a false dichotomy that in fact paintings that show women negotiating a complex combination of professionalism and domesticity are still overlooked in favor of those that emphasize women as decorative objects Redefining Gender in American Impressionist Studio Paintings challenges the dominant interpretation of American and European Impressionism and considers both men and women artists as active performers of multivalent identities

Enchanted Lives, Enchanted Objects Dianne Sachko Macleod, 2008 This insightful and beautifully illustrated book offers the first feminist analysis of the phenomenon of women art collectors in America Dianne Sachko Macleod brings a surprising paradox to light showing that collecting which provided wealthy women with a private sense of solace also liberated them to venture into the public sphere and make a lasting contribution to the emerging American culture Beginning in the antebellum period continuing through the Gilded Age and reaching well into the twentieth century Macleod shows how elite women enlisted the objets d art and avant garde paintings in their collections in causes ranging from the founding of modern museums to the campaign for women s suffrage

A Parisienne in Chicago Madame Léon Grandin, 2010 This fascinating account of a French woman s impressions of America in the late nineteenth century reveals an unusual cross cultural journey through fin de siècle Paris Chicago and New York Madame Leon Grandin s travels and extended stay in Chicago in 1893 were the result of her husband s collaboration on the fountain sculpture for the World s Columbian Exposition Initially impressed with the city s fast pace and architectural grandeur Grandin s attentions were soon drawn to its social and cultural customs reflected as observations in her writing During a ten month interval as a resident she was intrigued by the interactions between men and women mothers and their children teachers and students and other human relationships especially noting the comparative social freedoms of American women After this interval of acclimatization the young Parisian socialite had begun to view her own culture and its less liberated mores with considerable doubt I had tasted the fruit of independence of intelligent activity and was revolted at the idea of assuming once again the passive and inferior role that awaited me she wrote Grandin s curiosity and interior access to Chicago s social and domestic spaces produced an unusual travel narrative that goes beyond the usual tourist reactions and provides a valuable resource for readers interested in late nineteenth century America Chicago and social commentary Significantly her feminine views on American life are in marked contrast to parallel reflections on the culture by male visitors from abroad It is precisely the dual narrative of this text the simultaneous recounting of a foreigner's impressions and the consequent questioning of her own cultural certainties that make her book unique. This translation includes an introductory essay by Arnold Lewis that situates Grandin's account in the larger context of European visitors to Chicago in the 1890s. Architecture since 1400 Kathleen James-Chakraborty, 2014-01-01 The first global history of architecture to give equal attention to Western and non-Western structures and built landscapes. Architecture since 1400 is unprecedented in its range, approach and insight. From Tenochtitlan's Great Pyramid in Mexico City and the Duomo in Florence to Levittown's suburban tract housing and the Bird's Nest Stadium in Beijing, its coverage includes the world's most celebrated structures and spaces along with many examples of more humble vernacular buildings. Lavishly illustrated with more than 300 photographs, plans and interiors, this book presents key moments and innovations in architectural modernity around the globe. Deftly integrating architectural and social history, Kathleen James Chakraborty pays particular attention to the motivations of client and architect in the design and construction of environments, both sacred and secular: palaces and places of worship as well as such characteristically modern structures as the skyscraper, the department store and the cinema. She also focuses on the role of patrons and addresses to an unparalleled degree the impact of women in commissioning, creating and inhabiting the built environment, with Gertrude Jekyll, Lina Bo Bardi and Zaha Hadid taking their place beside Brunelleschi, Sinan and Le Corbusier. Making clear that visionary architecture has never been the exclusive domain of the West and recognizing the diversity of those responsible for commissioning, designing and constructing buildings, Architecture since 1400 provides a sweeping cross-cultural history of the built environment over six centuries.
