Impact Evaluation of Quality Management in Higher Education Theodor Leiber, 2020-06-29 This volume works towards overcoming the lack of systematic impact evaluation in higher education particularly analyses which are not restricted to ex post gathered data and expert assessments Since higher education is more important than ever in knowledge societies high priority should be ascribed to quality management QM in higher education institutions HEIs Consequently impact evaluation of QM effectiveness is indispensable because it generates the knowledge required for quality management improvement The introductory chapter elucidates the motivation and objective of impact analyses of QM in HEIs and provides an overview of the volume's other contributions One chapter reflects on success factors and unintended effects of QM while another one analyses more discursive ways of evidence informed guidance of QM policies which are complementary to rigorous impact studies Five chapters investigate QM effectiveness in HEIs by ex post and simultaneous impact evaluation in European case studies including assessments of students teachers quality managers and institutional leadership The case studies comprise universities from Germany Spain Finland and Romania The final chapter reports a SWOT analysis of impact evaluation of QM in HEIs which is suggested as a tool for bridging the notorious gap between the demanding methodology of impact evaluation and its proper implementation This book was originally published as a special issue of the European Journal of Higher Education

Higher Education Quality Assurance in Sub-Saharan Africa Peter Nicolas Materu, 2007 This report assesses the status and practice of higher education quality assurance in Sub-Saharan Africa focusing on degree granting tertiary institutions A main finding is that structured national level quality assurance processes in African higher education are a very recent phenomenon and that most countries face major capacity constraints Only about a third of them have established structured national quality assurance mechanisms often only as recently as during the last ten years Activities differ in their scope and rigor ranging from simple licensing of institutions by the minister responsible for higher education to comprehensive system wide program accreditation and ranking of institutions Within institutions of higher learning self assessment and academic audits are gradually being adopted to supplement traditional quality assurance methods However knowledge about and experience with self assessments are limited The main challenges to quality assurance systems in Africa are cost and human capacity requirements For countries with large tertiary systems the report recommends institutional rather than program accreditation as a cost effective option However where tertiary systems are small and underdeveloped a less formal self assessment for each institution may be necessary until the capacity could be strengthened to support a more formal national quality assurance agency in the long run

Quality Assurance and

Institutional Transformation Shuiyun Liu, 2016-05-03 This book illustrates the higher education quality assurance system and its impact on institutional transformation in China. It starts by describing the higher education system in China and its quality assessment schemes. It discusses in detail the Quality Assessment of Undergraduate Education (QAUE) and the Subject Evaluation, two of the most influential external quality assessment schemes which are conducted on the institutional and subject levels respectively. In the second part of this book, QAUE is taken as an example for the impact analysis. Using case studies, it explores the impact of the QAUE on various dimensions of quality provisions in universities with different statuses and presents the views of various stakeholders. Based on the empirical findings from the Chinese schemes and the theories on organizational change and the mechanism of external quality assessment, it proposes a model to describe how quality assessment interacts with the evaluated universities and causes them to change.

The Philosophy of Information Quality Luciano Floridi, Phyllis Illari, 2014-08-01 This work fulfills the need for a conceptual and technical framework to improve understanding of Information Quality (IQ) and Information Quality standards. The meaning and practical implementation of IQ are addressed as it is relevant to any field where there is a need to handle data and issues such as accessibility, accuracy, completeness, currency, integrity, reliability, timeliness, usability, the role of metrics and so forth are all a part of Information Quality. In order to support the cross-fertilization of theory and practice, the latest research is presented in this book. The perspectives of experts from beyond the origins of IQ in computer science are included; library and information science practitioners and academics, philosophers of information, of engineering and technology and of science are all contributors to this volume. The chapters in this volume are based on the work of a collaborative research project involving the Arts and Humanities Research Council and Google and led by Professor Luciano Floridi, University of Oxford. This work will be of interest to anyone handling data, including those from commercial, public, governmental and academic organizations. The expert editors' contributions introduce issues of interest to scientists, database curators and philosophers, even though the issues may be disguised in the language and examples common to a different discipline.

Quality Assurance in the Pathology Laboratory Maciej J. Bogusz, 2011-02-22 Quality refers to the amount of the unpriced attributes contained in each unit of the priced attribute. Leffler 1982: Quality is neither mind nor matter but a third entity independent of the two, even though Quality cannot be defined, you know what it is. Pirsig 2000: The continuous formulation of good practices and procedures across fields reflects it.
