Excavation Of Masada:

Sacrificing Truth Nachman Ben-Yehuda, 2002-06-01 According to a patriotic legend still current in Israel in 73 C E 960 Jewish rebels committed mass suicide at the desert fortress of Masada rather than surrender to the overwhelming force of their Roman oppressors This version of what happened at Masada is based on perhaps the most famous Israeli archaeological dig in recent history the 1963 1965 excavation of Masada led by Prof Yigael Yadin whose work at this site elevated him to the status of a national hero Is this story a true picture of the real events at the ancient wilderness stronghold According to sociologist Nachman Ben Yehuda Masada provides a casebook study of how the search for scientific truth can be influenced by the pressures of a cultural agenda In this fascinating analysis of history in the making Ben Yehuda closely examines the day by day transcripts of the archaeologists conversations at Masada to determine the way in which they evaluated the findings He skillfully demonstrates that the interpretation of the artifacts uncovered during the dig was significantly affected by the process of nation building and the forging of a national identity which was then underway in Israel Nation building required a heroic past and the pressure of this requirement subtly led to concealing facts and even falsifying the historical evidence Why did the archaeologists involved all scientifically trained scholars ignore scientific evidence in favor of a version of history that now appears to be largely a myth The answer to this question is the focus of this study which looks not only at Masada but at the whole issue of deception in science and the social construction of knowledge Beyond this Ben Yehuda considers the larger question of how society creates the symbolic moral boundaries between truth and deception as well as the subtle interplay of science politics and ideology This absorbing and thoroughly researched work makes a valuable contribution to our understanding of the construction of cultural meaning

Angelina Zech, 2023-03-02 Seminar paper from the year 2022 in the subject History Miscellaneous grade 1 University of Innsbruck language English abstract According to Josephus Flavius who was a Jewish historian wrote about the battle of Masada that occurred around 73 A D There the Jews lost their land to the Romans Masada was the last straw of the fight where multiple people committed suicide before they were able to be murdered Referring to Flavius as he was the only source had great impact on the excavation of Masada in the 20th century since without him the amazing archeological structures would just be ruins in the Judean desert As important as the buildings themselves is the connection between archeology in the context of politics Goal of this fusion was to construct personal and national identities Yigael Yadin was the head of the excavation of Masada He was born in in Jerusalem in 1917 After accomplishing various studies he started his military career When he resigned he took up his work as an archeologist and was part of the excavation of the major site of Hazor This term paper will focus on the excavation of Masada during 1963 1965 This will be done by analyzing the history of the battle which is the mythical narrative of the story by Yadin Moreover it is essential to talk about the Josephus Flavius Narrative Third how the mentioned politics and Masada correlate with each other Lastly the process of the excavation will be
