A Landscape of Conflict? Rural Fortifications in the Argolid (400-146 BC) Anna Magdalena Blomley, 2022-05-26 This is the first systematic study of Late Classical and Hellenistic rural fortifications in ancient Argos and the city states of the Argolic Akte Based on one of the largest regional corpora of Greek fortified sites the volume investigates the function of rural fortifications by placing them in the context of their surrounding landscape

Spear-Won Land Andrea M. Berlin, Paul J. Kosmin, 2019-06-25 Sardis in western Turkey was one of the great cities of the Aegean and Near Eastern worlds for almost a millennium a political keystone with a legendary past Recent archeological work has revealed how the city was transformed in the century following Alexander's conquests from a traditional capital to a Greek polis setting the stage for its blossoming as a Roman urban center This integrated collection of essays by more than a dozen prominent scholars illuminates a crucial stage from the early fourth century to 189 BCE when it became one of the most important political centers of Asia Minor The contributors to this volume are members of the Hellenistic Sardis Project a research collaboration between long standing expedition members and scholars keenly interested in the site These new discussions on the pre Roman history of Sardis restore the city in the scholarship of the Hellenistic East and will be enlightening to scholars of classical archaeology

Building Communities Ruth Westgate, Nicolas Ralph Edmund Fisher, James Whitley, 2007 This volume explores a range of approaches to the built environment of the ancient Mediterranean world with two main aims first to relate archaeological evidence to the wider cultural and historical context and second to bridge the conventional divide between prehistoric and Classical archaeology It contains 40 papers by an international array of scholars ranging from the Neolithic to Late Antiquity and geographically from the Aegean to Italy North Africa Egypt and the Black Sea Major themes include the theory and methodology of analysing and interpreting built space the relationship of the built environment to social and political structures and the formation of states the development of civic and religious space the identification of households in the archaeological record the formation and interpretation of domestic assemblages problems in the identification of functional areas within the house changing conceptions of public and private space and gender the function and significance of decoration in houses and palaces the uses of ethnoarchaeology and virtual reality for understanding architectural remains the effects of acculturation in the domestic sphere the archaeology of the domestic economy the problems of combining literary and archaeological evidence The papers offer many new interpretations of a wide range of material and taken together give an exciting overview of the latest scholarship and ideas in this rich and developing field of study The conference formed part of the British Academy AHRB funded project Strategies Structures and Ideologies of the Built Environment

The Classical Greek House Janett Morgan, 2010 Beginning with the premise that we must cease to view the classical Greek house through the lens of contemporary Western notions Janett Morgan provides a fresh evaluation of what home meant to different communities in the ancient Greek world By employing textual analysis alongside archaeological scholarship The Classical Greek House seeks to explain some of the contradictions that previous approaches have left unresolved from publisher description
