Morris, Robert Laffineur, 2007 Invisible People and Processes Jenny Moore, Eleanor Scott, 1997 Invisible People and Processes focuses on issues of gender and childhood in European archaeology It presents a range of themes and periods covering Britain the Mediterranean and Eastern Europe with contributions by scholars from the UK USA Canada and Europe The authors not only examine the archaeological record for these two structuring principles of human society but also consider cultural variability and discuss related theoretical problems The structure of the book is thematic The first part concentrates on theory and reviews the available evidence The second part includes case studies of critical research relating particularly to gender while the last part contains case studies relating especially to children and childhood Each part is concluded by a commentary from an expert in the field This book is the first archaeological work on gender to focus exclusively on the European archaeological record and to combine this with a coherent discussion of childhood and concepts of childhood It will be essential reading for all those working in gender and related studies especially in an archaeological context Franchthi Neolithic Pottery, Volume 2 Karen D.

Vitelli, 2018-10-26 The second of two systematic reports on the more than one million sherds of pottery recovered from the Franchthi Cave in Greece Over two and a quarter metric tons of pottery were recovered from Neolithic deposits at Franchthi and Paralia which will significantly increase our understanding of Neolithic pottery and Neolithic society in southern Greece Through the development and application of a new system of ceramic classification this fascicle analyzes the pottery from the earlier Neolithic deposits as a direct reflection of the human behavior that produced it A highly innovative study that foregrounds the decision making and technological choices of Neolithic potters Antiquity Imaginative rigorous and admirably lucid study Journal of Hellenic Studies The Archaeology of Ritual Evangelos Kyriakidis, 2007 This book is the fruit of the third Cotsen Advanced Seminar conducted at UCLA A wide spectrum of scholars historians art historians anthropologists students of performance students of religion archaeologists cognitive scientists and linguists were all asked to think and comment on how ritual can be traced in archaeology and which ways ritual research can go in that discipline The product is a fairly accurate representation of research on ritual and the archaeology of ritual scholars from various disciplines backgrounds and agendas arguing mostly in the most logical fashion yet with little agreement between them So this book should not be seen as presenting one unified attitude towards ritual and its study in archaeology It should rather be seen as a reflection of what the discourse in the archaeology of ritual is today The outcome has been extremely thought provoking often controversial but always of extremely high quality An Island Archaeology of the Early Cyclades Cyprian

Broodbank, 2002-07-18 A case study of the Greek Cyclades documenting new ways of studying global island archaeology Humanities, 1987 Aegaeum, 1987 The Early Iron Age Cemetery at Torone John K.
