Excavations At Richborough No 5:

Excavations at Richborough Barry W. Cunliffe, 1968-12-01 Reports on the early timber buildings the monumental arch and comprehensive summary of Richborough's place in Roman Britain Report on the Excavation of the Roman Fort at Richborough, Kent Joscelyn Plunket Bushe-Fox, 1928 Report on the Excavation of the Roman Fort at Richborough, Kent Joscelyn Plunket Bushe-Fox, 1968 The Antiquaries Journal, 1929 Excavations in the Darent Valley, Kent Brian Philp, 1984 Reports of the Research Committee of the Society of Antiquaries of London, 1916 Reports of the Research Committee, 1926 International Who's Who of Authors and Writers 2004 Europa Publications, 2003 Accurate and reliable biographical information essential to anyone interested in the world of literature The International Who's Who of Authors and Writers offers invaluable information on the personalities and organizations of the literary world including many up and coming writers as well as established names With over 8 000 entries this updated edition features Concise biographical information on novelists authors playwrights columnists journalists editors and critics Biographical details of established writers as well as those who have recently risen to prominence Entries detailing career works published literary awards and prizes membership and contact addresses where available An extensive listing of major international literary awards and prizes and winners of those prizes A directory of major literary organizations and literary agents A listing of members of the American Academy of Arts and Letters The Archaeology of Martin's Hundred Ivor Noël Hume, Audrey Noel Hume, Audrey Noël Hume, 2016-07-18 The Archaeology of Martin's Hundred explores the history and artifacts of a 20 000 acre tract of land in Tidewater Virginia one of the most extensive English enterprises in the New World Settled in 1618 all signs of its early occupation soon disappeared leaving no trace above ground More than three centuries later archaeological explorations uncovered tantalizing evidence of the people who had lived worked and died there in the seventeenth century Part I Interpretive Studies addresses four critical questions each with complex and sometimes unsatisfactory answers Who was Martin What was a hundred When did it begin and end Where was it located We then see how scientific detective work resulted in a reconstruction of what daily life must have been like in the strange and dangerous new land of colonial Virginia The authors use first person accounts documents of all sorts and the treasure trove of artifacts carefully unearthed from the soil of Martin's Hundred Part II Artifact Catalog illustrates and describes the principal artifacts in 110 figures The objects divided by category and by site range from ceramics which were the most readily and reliably datable to glass of which there was little to metalwork in all its varied aspects from arms and armor to rail splitters wedges and finally to tobacco pipes The Archaeology of Martin's Hundred is a fascinating account of the ways archaeological fieldwork laboratory examination and analysis based on lifelong study of documentary and artifact research came together to increase our knowledge of early colonial history Copublished with the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation Romano-British Settlement and Cemeteries at Mucking Sam Lucy, Christopher Evans, 2016-11-30 Excavations at Mucking Essex between 1965 and 1978 revealed extensive evidence for a multiphase rural Romano British settlement perhaps an estate center and five associated cemetery areas 170 burials with different burial areas reserved for different groups within the settlement The settlement demonstrated clear continuity from the preceding Iron Age occupation with unbroken sequences of artefacts and enclosures through the first century AD followed by rapid and extensive remodeling which included the laying out a Central Enclosure and an organized water supply with wells accompanied by the start of large scale pottery production After the mid second century AD the Central Enclosure was largely abandoned and settlement shifted its focus more to the Southern Enclosure system with a gradual decline though the 3rd and 4th centuries although continued burial pottery and artefactual deposition indicate that a form of settlement continued possibly with some low level pottery production Some of the latest Roman pottery was strongly associated with the earliest Anglo Saxon style pottery suggesting the existence of a terminal Roman settlement phase that essentially involved an Anglo Saxon community Given recent revisions of the chronology for the early Anglo Saxon period this casts an intriguing light on the transition with radical implications for understandings of this period Each of the cemetery areas was in use for a considerable length of time Taken as a whole Mucking was very much a component place complex it was its respective parts that fostered its many cemeteries whose diverse rites reflect the variability and roles of the settlement s evidently varied inhabitants

Roman Military Equipment from the Punic Wars to the Fall of Rome, second edition M. C. Bishop, John Coulston, 2006-04-22 Rome s rise to empire is often said to have owed much to the efficiency and military skill of her armies and their technological superiority over barbarian enemies But just how advanced was Roman military equipment What were its origins and how did it evolve The authors of this book have gathered a wealth of evidence from all over the Roman Empire excavated examples as well as pictorial and documentary sources to present a picture of what range of equipment would be available at any given time what it would look like and how it would function They examine how certain pieces were adopted from Rome s enemies and adapted to particular conditions of warfare prevailing in different parts of the Empire They also investigate in detail the technology of military equipment and the means by which it was produced and discuss wider questions such as the status of the soldier in Roman society Both the specially prepared illustrations and the text have been completely revised for the second edition of this detailed and authoritative handbook bringing it up to date with the very latest research It illustrates each element in the equipment of the Roman soldier from his helmet to his boots his insignia his tools and his weapons This book will appeal to archaeologists ancient and military historians as well as the generally informed and inquisitive reader

Roman Manchester Barri Jones, Shelagh Grealey, J. D. Bestwick, 1974

Notes and Queries, 1904

Excavation of the Iron Age, Roman and Medieval settlement at Gorhambury, St Albans David S Neal, Angela Wardle, Jonathan Hunn, 2012-01-15 Gorhambury just north of Verulamium was the site of a substantial Roman villa complex which was excavated between 1972 and 1982 as part of a programme designed to test the interrelationships between villa sites in the Verulamium area and to examine trends in their growth decline and prosperity The villa was found to have grown out of a settlement belonging to the late Iron Age A series of ditches of this phase enclosed an aisled barn a nine post granary and a circular house these were the beginnings of a sequence of structures on the same spot which show increasing signs of Roman influence all of which lay within the limits of the farmstead established at this early period Timber buildings of the first half of the first century were followed around AD100 by a small but luxurious villa rebuilt in the late second century and thereafter in a gradual decline until its apparent abandonment around AD 350 Work on virtually the whole of the farmstead area has enabled a full sequence of plans of the main houses and all the ancillary structures including barns subsidiary housing and bath houses to be presented in the report The catalogue of finds is an attempt to show the full range of material recovered from this working farmstead Kent Archaeological Review ,1970 The Archaeologists' Year Book ,1973 Catalogue of Artefacts from Malta in the British Museum Josef Mario Briffa SJ,Claudia Sagona,2017-04-30 Ancient finds from the Maltese islands are rare and those held in the British Museum form an important collection Represented is a wide cultural range spanning the Early and Late Neolithic the Bronze Age Roman and more recent historic periods Serçe Limani George F. Bass,Sheila Matthews,J. Richard Steffy,Frederick H. van Doorninck,2004-08-16 For almost a millennium a modest wooden ship lay underwater off the coast of Ser e Limani Turkey filled with evidence of trade and objects of daily life The ship now excavated by the Institute of Nautical Archaeology at Texas A M University trafficked in both the Byzantine and Islamic worlds of its time The ship is known as the Glass Wreck because its cargo included three metric tons of glass cullet including broken Islamic vessels and eighty pieces of intact glassware In addition it held glazed Islamic bowls red ware cooking vessels copper cauldrons and buckets wine amphoras weapons tools jewelry fishing gear remnants of meals coins scales and weights and more This first volume of the complete site report introduces the discovery the methods of its excavation and the conservation of its artifacts Chapters cover the details of the ship its contents the probable personal possessions of the crew and the picture of daily shipboard life that can be drawn from the discoveries Museums Journal Elijah Howarth,F.
