Quarterly Review of Economics and Business ,1911 Learning Theory in the Practice of Management Development Sara Grant,Aharon Kfir,Stephen A. Stumpf,Mary Anne Watson,1998-05-21 The workplace is the ideal environment for tying together management theory and practice and yet classes in many regular management development programs are conducted away from the work site and class sizes are so large that individual instruction is difficult to achieve In this book the authors seek effective ways to merge theory with workplace practice and advocate the modular preceptor method whereby participants work together in dyads and triads with a preceptor acting as advisor and instructor Unlike traditional management development programs which do not usually lead to behavior changes the modular preceptor model has behavior change as the basic aim Participants can remain at work while experiencing individualized learning developing problem solving skills and acquiring new knowledge which can be immediately applied to work situations Various ways of learning such as passive lecture case study discussion and experiential role playing games sensitivity training are examined No single mode of learning can be comprehensive and adequate for all situations The authors contend however that experiential learning is most effective for increasing the will and competence to learn and for using what is learned to change manager behavior The purpose of the modular preceptor approach is not to present answers to specific managerial or organizational problems but to help the participant acquire new problem definition and problem solving skills and the confidence to apply them on the job This book also analyzes the contribution of the behavioral sciences to the philosophies and techniques behind management instruction and examines the role of the university in management development and the future direction of MBA programs For anyone concerned with meaningful and effective management development this book is an invaluable resource Integrating Simulation Tools Into Entrepreneurship Education Masouras, Andreas N.,Anastasiadou, Sofia,Deirmentzoglou, Georgios A.,Sophocleous, Harry Ph.,Anastasopoulou, Eleni E.,2025-04-08 The integration of simulation tools into entrepreneurship education transforms how entrepreneurs learn experiment and develop critical business skills These digital and virtual tools offer students immersive hands on experiences that replicate real world challenges enabling them to test business ideas make decisions and navigate complex market dynamics in a risk free environment As entrepreneurship education continues to evolve the adoption of simulation tools plays a key role in preparing students to succeed in the increasingly fast paced uncertain and competitive business landscape Further exploration of successful implementations highlights the potential of these technologies to shape the next generation of entrepreneurs Integrating Simulation Tools Into Entrepreneurship Education explores the integration of simulation technologies and methodologies in entrepreneurship education It examines the theoretical underpinnings practical applications benefits challenges and future directions of using simulations to teach entrepreneurship This book covers topics such as digital technology gamification and online learning and is a useful resource for educators academicians business owners entrepreneurs and researchers Development Economics: Theory, Practice, and Prospects Thomas R.
