Economics Concept And Design Of Information Intermediaries:

The Economics, Concept, and Design of Information Intermediaries Frank Rose, 2012-12-06 The Internet provides an infrastructure that makes the steadily increasing amount of information accessible efficiently quickly and inexpensively. Closely connected with this opportunity is the danger that the available information will overcharge the individual information seeker's capability to process the information and to judge its quality. In this situation, information intermediaries can take upon the role of an expert and a guarantor of quality similar to intermediaries in markets for physical goods or finances. Thus, information intermediaries can be a trustworthy information processing third party mediating between information seekers and information sources. The current technological development has created information technologies that are capable to efficiently process large amounts of information. However, the provision of intermediation services necessitates a thorough examination of the basic principles underlying the economics of information intermediaries as well as a sound foundation on information technologies. The present work by Frank Rose addresses the fundamental question concerning the economics of information intermediaries by means of an abstract model. The model focuses on services that concentrate on the search and mediation of information and identifies the essential influencing factors of the intermediary's environment. The model is then employed to investigate the impact of environmental conditions on the information intermediary on the one hand and the optimal strategy of the information intermediary as a reaction to environmental conditions on the other hand. Economics of Standards in Information Networks Tim Weitzel, 2012-12-06 Standards play a prominent role in systems characterized by interaction. In information systems, standards provide for compatibility and are a prerequisite for collaboration benefits. More generally speaking, standards constitute networks. In this work, a standardization framework based on an analysis of deficiencies of network effect theory and a game theoretic network equilibrium analysis is developed. Fundamental determinants of diffusion processes in networks, e.g., network topology, agent size, installed base, are identified and incorporated into a computer-based simulation model. As a result, typical network behaviour-specific diffusion patterns can be explained, and many findings from traditional network effect theory can be described as special cases of the model at particular parameter constellations, e.g., low price, high density. On this basis, solution strategies for standardization problems are developed, and a methodological path towards a unified theory of networks is proposed. Information

Services Design Fons Wijnhoven, 2011-12-21 Information services are economic and organizational activities for informing people. Because informing is changing rapidly under the influence of internet technologies, this book presents in Chapter 1 fundamental notions of information and knowledge based on philosopher C. W. Churchman's inquiring systems. This results in the identification of three product-oriented design theory aspects: content, use, value, and revenue. Chapter 2 describes how one can cope with these aspects by presenting process-oriented design theory. Both design theory insights are applied in chapters on information services challenges, their business concepts and processes, their architectures, and exploitation. The final chapter discusses three case studies that integrate the insights from previous chapters and it discusses some ideas for future research This book gives students a coherent start to the topic of information services from a design science perspective with a balance between technical and managerial aspects Therefore this book is useful for modern curricula of management communication science and information systems Because of its design science approach it also explains design science principles The book also serves professionals and academics in search of a foundational understanding of informing as a science and management practice

New Approaches for Security, Privacy and Trust in Complex Environments Hein Venter, Mariki Eloff, Les Labuschagne, Jan Eloff, Rossouw von Solms, 2007-11-10 This book contains the Proceedings of the 22nd IFIP TC 11 International Information Security Conference IFIP SEC 2007 on New Approaches for Security Privacy and Trust in Complex Environments held in Sandton South Africa from 14 to 16 May 2007 The IFIP SEC conferences are the flagship events of TC 11 In May 1995 South Africa for the first time hosted an IFIP SEC conference in Cape Town Now twelve years later we are very pleased to have succeeded in our bid to once again present the IFIP SEC conference in South Africa The current IT environment deals with novel complex approaches such as information privacy trust digital forensics management and human aspects This modern environment challenges the whole information security research community to focus on interdisciplinary and holistic approaches whilst retaining the benefit of previous research efforts Papers offering research contributions that focus both on access control in complex environments and on other aspects of computer security and privacy were solicited for submission to IFIP SEC 2007 A total of 107 submissions were received which were all reviewed by at least three members of the international programme committee

Information Technology in Supplier Networks Sascha Weber, 2012-12-06 The present work by Sascha Weber addresses procurement which deals with business partners beyond the boundaries of one s organization Procurement refers to the function of purchasing goods and services from suppliers whether raw material used to manufacture an organization s final products maintenance and repair supplies or capital goods such as machinery and buildings Major decisions in procurement concern the selection of the right suppliers with whom to establish a business relationship the design of purchasing contracts and the selection of information technology used to support the procurement process In recent years the progress in information technology not only provided opportunities to rationalize the existing way of organizing procurement but also opened up new ways of conducting business as the emergence of virtual enterprises and electronic markets may indicate The objective of Sascha Weber s research is to analyze and answer the question of how the use of information technology and expected progress influences procurement decisions of an organization The analysis is conducted identifying important parameters which describe the relevant properties of information technology and supplier relationships Information technology is distinguished firstly in terms of the task which is supported between information technology used to support the evaluation of potential suppliers and information technology for the support of the execution of a supplier relationship

Convincing Political Stakeholders Klemens Joos, 2023-10-23 In the new edition of his standard work the founder of one of the most successful lobbying companies in the European Union EU Prof Klemens Joos bundles experience acquired over more than three decades to form a scientific theory on governmental relations It focusses on the insight that in view of the increasingly complex decision making structures of the EU the most precise possible knowledge of decision makers and decision making processes is at least equally as important to success as the content aspects of interest representation In a new chapter the author sets out the formula for science based interest representation developed by him from his practical experience With the Treaty of Lisbon which entered into force on 1 December 2009 the EU de facto became a state territory stretching from Portugal to Finland and from Ireland to Cyprus The European Parliament became an equal status decision maker alongside the Council of the European Union Council The previous co decision procedure was elevated to become the standard procedure ordinary legislative procedure The so called qualified majority 55 percent of the EU member states which simultaneously represent at least 65 percent of the EU population was introduced for all important areas in the Council As a result the outcome of decision making processes has become largely incalculable for the actors on the European Union stage the EU member states EU regions companies associations and organisations The second edition includes a new chapter in which Prof Klemens Joos makes the variables of successful interest representation even more tangible on the basis of his scientific formula at the latest since the Treaty of Lisbon the basic prerequisite for successful interest representation in the EU involves the continuous and close intermeshing of the affected party's content competence of the four classic instruments of interest representation corporate representative offices associations public affairs agencies law firms with process structure competence i.e. the EU wide maintenance of the required spatial personnel and organisational capacities as well as strong networks across institutions political groups and member states on the part of an independent intermediary The likelihood of success can be increased exponentially if success is achieved firstly in committing to the concern of an affected party through a change of perspective such that the positive effects on the common good are shifted into the foreground for the decision makers in the EU perspective change competence and secondly in successfully integrating the concern into the crucial decision making processes at the political level and continuously supporting it process support competence Guest authors This work includes guest contributions from Prof Christian Blumelhuber Berlin University of the Arts Prof Anton Meyer formerly LMU Munich Prof Armin Nassehi LMU Munich and Prof Franz Waldenberger Director of the German Institute of Japanese Studies Tokyo as well as a foreword by Prof Gunther Friedl Dean of the TUM School of Management and a preface by Prof Thomas F Hofmann President of TU Munich Elgar

Dibbern, 2012-12-06 The field of Information Systems IS outsourcing has drawn considerable attention among scientists and practitioners for the past fifteen years. The present book analyses why organizations insource or outsource IS functions specifically the development and maintenance of software applications. Concepts from transaction cost theory resource based theory incomplete contracts theory the theory of planned behaviour and cross cultural research are integrated into a coherent framework that recognizes the economic strategic and social dimension of the IS sourcing decision. This framework is specified in a research model and empirically tested across countries Germany versus USA industries Machinery versus Finance and IS functions Application Software Development versus Maintenance using the partial least squares PLS approach of structural equation modelling. The book thereby provides theoretically and empirically grounded insights into the reasons and implications of the IS sourcing decision. Security in Pervasive Computing Dieter Hutter, Markus

Collective intelligence has become an attractive subject of interest for both academia and industry. More and more conferences and workshops discuss the impact of the users motivation to participate in the value creation process the enabling role of leading edge information and communication technologies and the need for better algorithms to deal with the growing amount of shared data. There are many interesting and challenging topics that need to be researched and discussed with respect to knowledge creation creativity and innovation processes carried forward in the emerging communities of practice. COLLIN is on the path to become the flagship conference in the areas of collective intelligence and ICT enabled social networking. We were delighted to again receive contributions from different parts of the world including Australia Europe Asia and the United States. Encouraged by the positive response we plan COLLIN 2012 to be held next year end of August at FernUniversität in Hagen. In order to guarantee the quality of the event each paper went through a doubleblind review process The reviews concentrated on originality quality and relevance of the paper topic to the symposium In addition we invited a few renowned experts in the field to contribute to the success of the symposium with outstanding papers reporting on their most recent research Our special thanks go to the authors for submitting their papers to the international program committee members and to numerous reviewers who did an excellent job in guaranteeing that the papers in this volume are of very high quality

New Strategies for Financial Services Firms Dennis Kundisch,2012-12-06 The theme of this book New strategies for financial services providers is an equally relevant and important topic in science and practice In the post information age economy the German financial services market and many big financial services providers are in a deep crisis Increasing competition due to deregulation and improved transparency through new means of communication on the one hand and empowered customers demanding individualized solutions for their financial problems e.g. because of new working circumstances increase the pressure on the market participants to alter their strategies according to these new challenges Many firms have reacted defensively either by merging in the hopes of realizing scale effects a high risk venture considering the last few years or by adopting me too strategies also known as lemming banking that do not provide for a sustainable competitive advantage Based on a profound analysis of developing mega trends in the years ahead especially in information and IT intense market Dr Kundisch develops a new anti cyclical strategy that aims at using IT as an enabler to strengthen customer relationships and focus on individualized solutions wherever it seems economically sound to do so However he does not stop after the development of the strategy but provides two important concepts that may help turn this vision and strategy into reality Thus he favorably and refreshingly differentiates against many contributions that stop at the fairly abstract strategic level

Stakeholder Engagement and Innovation in Japan Megumi Suto,Hitoshi Takehara,2025-03-21 This book focuses on the linkage between corporate social responsibility CSR engagement and innovation strategies in the context of Japanese firms beginning in the late 2000s Since that time the firms have faced transformations in their business models and CSR activities in the face of global technological competition The novelty of this book is that it carefully identifies the channels linking CSR and innovation through employee motivation for creativity and investor awareness of environmental social and governance ESG issues As well the book sheds light on the role of independent sustainability rating agencies as information intermediaries in this linkage It empirically examines whether and how internal and external stakeholder engagement influences organizational innovation capability and the impact of ESG ratings on that relationship This present work helps to provide a comprehensive understanding of the integration of multi stakeholder engagement in corporate innovation strategies to survive in changing social and environmental circumstances with insight into the role of information intermediaries in the integration process The book has practical implications for strategic CSR to achieve social and environmental sustainability which are particularly important in Japan
