Victorian Noon Carl Dawson, 2020-03-24 Originally published in 1979 Carl Dawson looks at the year 1850 which was an extraordinary year in English literary history to study both the great and forgotten writers to survey journals and novels poems and magazines and to ask questions about dominant influences and ideas His primary aim is descriptive How was Wordsworth s Prelude received by his contemporaries on its publication in 1850 How did reviewers respond to new tendencies in poetry and fiction Who were the prominent literary models But Dawson s descriptions also lead to broader theoretical questions about such issues as the status of the imagination in an age obsessed by mechanical invention about the public role of the writer the appeal to nature and the use of myth and memory To express the Victorians estimation of poetry for example Dawson presents the contrasting views help by two eminent Victorians Macaulay and Carlyle In Macaulay s opinion the advance of civilization led to the decline of poetry Carlyle on the other hand saw the poet as a spiritual liberator in a world of materialists The fusion of the poet s personal and public roles is witnessed in a discussion of the two mid Victorian Poet Laureates Wordsworth and his successor Tennyson In analyzing the relationship between the two writers works Dawson also highlights the extent of the Victorians admiration for Dante To give a wider perspective of the status of literature during this time Dawson examines reviews prefaces and other remarks Critics he shows made a clear distinction between poetry and fiction Thus in 1850 a comparison between say Wordsworth and Dickens would not have been made

Dawson however does compare the two by focusing on their uses of autobiography Dickens surfaces again in a discussion of Victorian periodical publishing Here Dawson compares the Pre Raphaelites short lived journal The Germ with Dickens enormously popular Household Words and a radical paper The Red Republican which printed the first English version of The Communist Manifesto in 1850 In bringing together materials that have often been seen as disparate and unrelated and by suggesting new literary and ideological relationships Carl Dawson has written a book to inform almost any reader whether scholar of Victorian literature or lover of Dickens novels
