Eighteenth-century French Porcelain in the Ashmolean Museum Aileen Dawson, Ashmolean Museum, 1996 The Ashmolean Museum has a collection of French porcelain which is remarkable both for several individual pieces from famous collections and also for the way in which it demonstrates the development of porcelain in France from the late 17th century onwards The book illustrates and discusses in detail over 50 of the most attractive rare and important pieces in the collection from eight known factories including Vincennes Sevres St Cloud Chantilly Mennecey and Villeroy The Ashmolean ,1995

European Porcelain in The Metropolitan Museum of Art Jeffrey Munger, Elizabeth Sullivan, 2018-05-09 Porcelain imported from China was the most highly coveted new medium in sixteenth and early seventeenth century Europe Its pure white color translucency and durability as well as the delicacy of decoration were impossible to achieve in European earthenware and stoneware In response European ceramic factories set out to discover the process of producing porcelain in the Chinese manner with significant artistic technical and commercial ramifications for Britain and the Continent Indeed not only artisans but kings noble patrons and entrepreneurs all joined in the quest hoping to gain both prestige and profit from the enterprises they established This beautifully illustrated volume showcases ninety works that span the late sixteenth to the mid nineteenth century and reflect the major currents of European porcelain production Each work is illustrated with glorious new photography accompanied by analysis and interpretation by one of the leading experts in European decorative arts Among the wide range of porcelains selected are rare blue and white wares and figures from Italy superb examples from the Meissen factory in Germany and the Sevres factory in France and ceramics produced by leading British eighteenth century artisans Taken together they reveal why the Metropolitan Museum's holdings in this field are among the finest in the world p 1

M.

Edwards, 2022-05-05 Armorial porcelains comprised the output of most European ceramics factories in the 18th and 19th Centuries in response to the large quantity of armorial porcelain services that were being imported from China bearing the coats of arms and crests of aristocratic families Whereas these armorial services have been identified and covered for most porcelain manufactories the information relevant to their production by the two relatively short lived Nantgarw and Swansea China Works has not been addressed as a theme until now As an integral component of the holistic forensic appraisal of porcelain a functional and decorative artwork manifestly part of our cultural heritage and its ongoing preservation the recording and identification of such artefacts is material for the future establishment of a database of factory production The

Nantgarw and Swansea factories only operated for a limited period in the second decade of the 19th Century and their porcelains were much appreciated for their high quality and desirability by Georgian households Today examples are to be found in many museums and ceramics collections and continue to excite the interest of specialists and the general public This text provides the first comprehensive assessment of armorial porcelains from these two factories and the methodology and procedure for the identification of unknown armorial bearings and crests is illustrated individual bearings are discussed in detail and existing incorrect assignments in the literature are re appraised The difficulties in attribution of armorial heraldic achievements that are only minimally depicted are considered and directions for further studies using historical documentation are invoked This book therefore fills a currently existing gap in the ceramics literature of the 19th Century

Gardiner Museum of Ceramic Art. Macdonald Collection,Oliver R. Impey,C. J. A. Jörg,Charles Q. Mason,2009 Since the early seventeenth century when the secret of porcelain was first carried from China to Japan by Korean potters Japan has produced some of the world s most exquisite porcelains The Kakiemon masters in Arita on the island of Kyushu gained particular renown for the quality of their colourful overglaze enamels and artistic designs Through exports Kakiemon ware had a profound impact on the development of European porcelain in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries inspiring ceramic manufacturers in both continental Europe and England to reach new levels of technical and artistic achievement Dragons Tigers and Bamboo highlights 170 masterpieces from the Bill and Molly Anne Macdonald Collection at the Gardiner Museum of Ceramic Art in Toronto Canada This extraordinary collection illustrates many different aspects of the historical interaction between Japanese and European porcelain during the seventeenth eighteenth and nineteenth centuries It is unquestionably the best cross cultural porcelain collection in Canada and is among the best of its kind in the world Illustrated with more than 160 full colour photographs commissioned for this volume Dragons Tigers and Bamboo for the first time makes the Macdonald Collection accessible to an international audience Bibliographie D'histoire de L'art ,1997 The British National Bibliography Cumulated Subject Catalogue ,1968 Art Books, 1950-1979 R.R.
