José Joaquín Ramos Miras,2009-04-01 La

agricultura intensiva en el poniente Almeriense constituye un ejemplo de desarrollo endógeno. Su impulso ha determinado el progreso económico y social de una de las áreas tradicionalmente más deprimidas de España. Pero este desarrollo está acompañado de un uso abusivo de los suelos que puede producir una degradación de los mismos. El presente trabajo se centra en el estudio de la evolución de las características físico-químicas y los niveles de contaminación de metales pesados tanto totales como biodisponibles de los suelos de invernadero del Poniente Almeriense a lo largo de los años de cultivo de los invernaderos. Los resultados muestran que los suelos de invernadero están sufriendo un proceso de degradación química en la que sus características físico-químicas están siendo afectadas por los años que llevan en producción, así como un proceso de acumulación de metales pesados en los mismos procedentes principalmente de los agroquímicos empleados. Para evaluar los niveles de contaminación se han establecido los niveles de fondo y referencia de metales pesados en estos suelos. Además se han empleado tres índices: el equivalente de Zn, la relación Zn/Cd y el porcentaje de la fracción extraíble. La evaluación de estos niveles y de los tres índices empleados indican que los suelos de invernadero están sufriendo un proceso de contaminación por metales pesados. Por tanto podemos afirmar que la agricultura intensiva está afectando negativamente a los suelos de invernadero del Poniente Almeriense.

Sergio José Ibáñez Godoy, Sebastian Feu, Javier García-Rubio, 2019-12-22. Este libro reúne una variedad de artículos de investigación donde diferentes autores han plasmado sus estudios y experiencias con minucioso detalle y que son de gran valía para cualquier profesional que quiera profundizar en el análisis de los procesos formativos. Para llegar a la excelencia y al mejor nivel competitivo resulta clave que los procesos de aprendizaje en las categorías formativas se hayan desarrollado de la forma más eficaz. Y en este punto deberíamos plantearnos algunas cuestiones: desde qué categoría deja de ser formativa en la máxima competición y nivel se puede seguir formando o solo se puede competir por ganar. Los jugadores que alcanzan la élite y el máximo nivel competitivo no siempre proceden de un excelente proceso formativo: son innumerables los jugadores de primerísimo nivel que han sido capaces de explotar algunas cualidades y sin embargo son carentes de otras muchas que no han sido desarrolladas durante su proceso formativo. Estos déficits en la técnica o táctica individual se muestran no solo en la competición sino también durante los entrenamientos en los ejercicios y tareas del juego específico. Es responsabilidad de los entrenadores de alto nivel no solo prestar atención al resultado competitivo sino también al desarrollo de las cualidades poco trabajadas o más carentes de nuestros jugadores para perseguir siempre la mejora individual y colectiva del grupo. El proceso de formación no debe ser exclusivo de nuestros jugadores: los entrenadores nos debemos sentir también responsables de nuestra formación y mejora como profesionales. Tal y como indica Sergio Ibáñez en su capítulo, el control del entrenamiento es una buena forma de seguir formándose y mejorando para optimizar nuestros conocimientos y darle mayor rendimiento. En definitiva se trata de una publicación de enorme valor práctico para cualquier
