Dwelling in Fiction Ashley R. Brock, 2023-12-15 Explores the affective ethical and political demands that difficult reading places on readers of midcentury Latin American literature The radical formal experiments undertaken by writers across Latin America in the mid twentieth century introduced friction opacity and self reflexivity to the very act of reading Dwelling in Fiction Poetics of Place and the Experimental Novel in Latin America explores the limitations and the possibilities of literature for conveying place specific forms of life Focusing on authors such as José María Arguedas João Guimarães Rosa and Juan José Saer who are often celebrated for universalizing regional themes Ashley R Brock brings a new critical lens to Latin American writers who were ambivalent toward their era's boom Beyond mere resistance to or critique of the commodification and political instrumentalization of rural topics and types this countertrend of critical regionalism positions readers themselves as outsiders pushing them to engage their senses to train their attention and to learn to dwell in unknown textual landscapes Dwelling in Fiction draws on a transnational community of thinkers and writers to show how their midcentury aesthetic practices of sensorial pedagogy anticipate contemporary turns toward affect embodiment decoloniality and ecological thought

Rethinking Community from Peru Irina Alexandra Feldman, 2014-09-20 Peruvian novelist poet and anthropologist José María Arguedas 1911-1969 was a highly conflicted figure As a mestizo both European and Quechua blood ran through his veins and into his cosmology and writing Arguedas's Marxist influences and ethnographic work placed him in direct contact with the subalterns he would champion in his stories His exposes of the conflicts between Indians and creoles and workers and elites were severely criticized by his contemporaries who sought homogeneity in the nation building project of Peru In Rethinking Community from Peru Irina Alexandra Feldman examines the deep political connotations and current relevance of Arguedas's fiction to the Andean region Looking principally to his most ambitious and controversial work All the Bloods Feldman analyzes Arguedas's conceptions of community political subjectivity sovereignty juridical norm popular actions and revolutionary change She deconstructs his particular use of language a mix of Quechua and Spanish as a vehicle to express the political dualities in the Andes As Feldman shows Arguedas's characters become ideological speakers and the narrator's voice is often absent allowing for multiple viewpoints and a powerful realism Feldman examines Arguedas's other novels to augment her theorizations and grounds her analysis in a dialogue with political philosophers Walter Benjamin Jean-Luc Nancy Carl Schmitt Jacques Derrida Ernesto Laclau and Iván García Linera among others In the current political climate Feldman views the promise of Arguedas's vision in light of Evo Morales's election and the Bolivian plurality project recognizing indigenous autonomy She juxtaposes the Bolivian situation with that of Peru where comparatively limited progress has been made towards constitutional recognition of the indigenous groups As Feldman demonstrates the prophetic relevance of Arguedas's constructs lie in their recognition of the sovereignty of all ethnic groups and their coexistence in the modern democratic nation state in a system of heterogeneity through autonomy not homogeneity through suppression Tragically for Arguedas it was a philosophy he could not reconcile with the politics of his day or from his position within Peruvian society
