Elderly Housing Arthur E. Gimmy, Michael G. Boehm, 1988 Appraising Residential Properties Appraisal Institute (U.S.), 1994 A comprehensive handbook on residential valuation which includes coverage of recently revised professional standards descriptions of current reporting formats current definitions for industry specific terms and more Seniors Housing Michael A. Anikeeff, Glenn Müller, 2012-12-06 Seniors housing improves the quality of life for an increasingly significant segment of the population The number of people in the United States over sixty five years of age is projected to double in the next thirty years and the number of people aged eighty five and over the ones most in need of seniors housing is projected to increase three fold The business implications of this demographic change are significant This volume provides an introduction to seniors housing and an industry analysis with the ultimate goal of expediting needed investment It provides information for industry analysts on product lines complementary products and substitute products In addition it examines buyers and their behavior the growth potential of the industry the growth patterns and determinants of growth the economics of the different product types and the market analysis techniques Finally an article on health care REITs and health care stocks investigates the performance of the larger players in the industry Essays in Honor of James A. Graaskamp: Ten Years After James R. DeLisle, Elaine Worzala, 2012-12-06 As the title indicates Essays in Honor of James A. Graaskamp Ten Years After is a collection of essays written to honor Graaskamp's major contributions to the field of real estate education and practice over the course of three decades Upon his death in 1988 the industry lost a major influence for advancing the real estate discipline both as an academic field and a professional field The authors in this volume seek to extend Graaskamp's contributions and move the real estate discipline forward The papers address the challenges posed by the market to return our attention to real estate fundamentals and to strike a proper balance between Main Street and Wall Street The authors and editors hope that this book will influence the industry to incorporate many of Graaskamp's ideas into mainstream real estate education and practice Over the course of his career Graaskamp made many noteworthy contributions to real estate theory and practice ideas that if resurrected could offset some of the pressure in the industry to move away from market fundamentals The authors try to capture the essence of Graaskamp's messages and intend that the papers serve as a point of departure for discussing the future role and nature of real estate education Part I focuses on the major contributions to the real estate discipline made by Graaskamp and the Wisconsin Real Estate Program Part II contains some personal recollections and photos of Graaskamp and also a summary of the groups that make up the Wisconsin Real Estate Program a major co sponsor of this volume The rest of the book's three main parts are structured around major topics that reflect the multidisciplinary nature of real estate as espoused by Graaskamp Part III treats real estate feasibility and development Part IV concentrates on real estate valuation and Part V discusses institutional economics Going Concern Valuation L. Deane Wilson Ma Asa, Robin G. Wilson Mai, 2012-02 Our purpose in writing this book is multifaceted First this book aims to present a clear understanding of going concern valuations at the same time resolving the current misrepresentations surrounding the issue. Additionally, this book offers a new set of rules readers can use to determine which property types qualify as going concern valuations and which do not. This book presents an understanding that in performing a Going Concern Valuation of properties which are perceived to have a business component, it may not be possible to segregate, allocate, or value the components individually. For example, when appraising the going concern value of a motel with occupancy of 75%, it could be argued and possibly proven that there is a value that can be separated from the overall value or going concern value to the business component. On the other hand, however, appraising that same motel with only 40% occupancy presents a completely different set of circumstances that could easily draw completely opposite conclusions. It simply may be a lack of sufficient tools or data to argue and prove that the business component in fact has value separate from the real estate. To do so with authority is tantamount to ignorance or arrogance. Senior Housing Arthur E. Gimmy, Susan B. Brecht, Clifford J. Dowd, 1998. An introduction to the history and development of the industry is followed by chapters addressing demographics and trends, retirement project types, design and development, management and staffing, financing, and feasibility, the market feasibility process, and applying market analysis to demand. Includes two valuation case studies. Lacks an index. Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc. Portland, OR. The Appraisal of Real Estate Appraisal Institute (U.S.), 1996. The 12th edition of this textbook has been revised and reorganized significantly for greater clarity, coherence, and consistency. Coverage includes emerging issues such as the impact of automated valuation models on the appraisal industry, the new emphasis on extraordinary assumptions and hypothetical conditions in recent revisions of standards of professional practice, and important data sources. For both novice appraisers and established practitioners. c. Book News Inc. Seniors' Housing and Care Facilities Paul Anthony Gordon, 1998. Ideal for developers, operators, lenders, and consultants, this comprehensive reference provides practical information on all aspects of developing and operating assisted living, congregate nursing, and continuing care retirement facilities. It covers key topics such as business and tax structuring, product development and trends, licensing and regulatory issues, finance, health care, discrimination issues, HUD programs, joint ventures, demographics, and marketing and liability concerns. Case studies of innovative projects describe the tools and success strategies that others have used and the pitfalls to avoid. A CD containing more than 200 business forms for managing a seniors care facility is also included. Valuation of Physician Practices and Clinics Bruce G. Krider, 1997. One of the major trends in health care is the consolidation of physician practices. To compete effectively for patients and control costs, physicians are either combining into larger groups or deciding to sell their practices to hospitals. The Valuation of Physician Practices and Clinics provides buyers with a basic how to approach to the valuation of physician practices and outlines how sellers can get the most for their money. Appraising Residential Properties, 1988. Real Estate Books and Periodicals in Print, 1999.
