The Spiritual Anatomy of Emotion Michael A. Jawer, 2009-05-21 A cutting edge examination of feelings not thoughts as the gateway to understanding consciousness Contends that emotion is the greatest influence on personality development Offers a new perspective on immunity stress and psychosomatic conditions Explains how emotion is key to understanding out of body experience apparitions and other anomalous perceptions Contemporary science holds that the brain rules the body and generates all our feelings and perceptions Michael Jawer and Dr Marc Micozzi disagree They contend that it is our feelings that underlie our conscious selves and determine what we think and how we conduct our lives The less consciousness we have of our emotional being the more physical disturbances we are likely to have from ailments such as migraines fibromyalgia chronic fatigue and post traumatic stress to anomalous perceptions such as apparitions and involuntary out of body experiences Using the latest scientific research on immunity sensation stress cognition and emotional expression the authors demonstrate that the way we process our feelings provides a key to who is most likely to experience these phenomena and why They explain that emotion is a portal into the world of extraordinary perception and they provide the studies that validate the science behind telepathic dreams poltergeists and ESP The Spiritual Anatomy of Emotion challenges the prevailing belief that the brain must necessarily rule the body Far from being by products of neurochemistry the authors show that emotions are the key vehicle by which we can understand ourselves and our interactions with the world around us as well as our most intriguing and perennially baffling experiences

Entertaining the Triune Mystery Jeffrey C. Pugh, 2003-10-01 Drawing on one of Christianity's great mysteries the life of the Trinity Jeffrey Pugh seeks to bridge the gap between ancient faith traditions and scientific inquiry in part by celebrating that gap itself as God's essence Pugh uses the wisdom of Plato Irenaeus the Cappadocians Einstein and many others to prompt us to think of God's energies within the processes of creation and life as the presence of God's suffering love for the cosmos God not only nourishes the possibilities of the creation but is fully present in them both suffering with and extending hope for a world coming to be

Light from Light Judith L. Corey, 2016-12-01 Cosmology and theology share a long held relationship with one another explaining as they do the constitution of the world and the interaction of forces The author explores the history of this relationship from ancient pre scientific and theological explanations through to contemporary science and philosophy In this history a particular problem is highlighted by the author the prevalence of dualism from Aristotelian philosophy to modern mechanistic conceptions many of these accounts presume a sharp absolute dichotomy between matter and spirit and the material world and the divine Increasingly dualistic conceptions are called into question by contemporary science theology and philosophy The author argues that a particular trajectory stemming from Greek Heraclitian and Platonic philosophy to non orthodox and early Christian theologies provides a fruitful resource for contemporary discussions This is the Logos theology and its attendant language of light The author brings this tradition into dialogue with contemporary science and theology to construct an integrative account

The Cosmic Breath Amos Yong, 2012-05-10 Recent thinking in the interfaith dialogue and in the theology science dialogue have taken a pneumatological turn The Cosmic Breath explores this pneumatological theology as unfolded in the Christian Buddhist dialogue alongside critical interaction with the theology and science conversation As an attempt in comparative and constructive Christian philosophical theology its central thesis is that a pneumatological approach to Buddhist traditions in further dialogue with modern science generates new philosophical resources that invigorate Christian thinking about the natural world and humanity's place in it The result is a transformation of the Buddhist Christian dialogue from insights generated in the theology and science interface and a contribution to the religion and science dialogue from a comparative theological and philosophical perspective

The Speed of Light David A. Grandy, 2009-07-06 Light our experience of light our measurement of light and the notion that light speed is constant can be understood to mark our interface with the cosmos David A Grandy s book moves from the scientific to the existential from Einstein to Merleau Ponty from light as a phenomenon to light as that which is constitutive of reality To measure the speed of light is to measure something about the way we are measured or blended into the cosmos and that universal blending predetermines our measurement of light speed in favor of a universal or constant value It s quite a trip one aimed at scientists who have pondered light speed constancy philosophers inclined to question the idea that mind and world are distinct and scientifically or philosophically inclined persons who enjoy stretching themselves in new ways

The One in the Many Joseph A. Bracken, 2001 Classical notions of truth and objectivity have steadily eroded in the face of postmodernism Meeting this challenge head on Joseph Bracken here reconstructs the metaphysical tradition of the West on solid new foundations Drawing on the thought of Alfred North Whitehead Ervin Laszlo and J rgen Habermas Bracken presents a new philosophical perspective that roots the relationship between God and the world in community Bracken first answers objections to the possibility of developing a new metaphysics in our postmodern age He then lays out the vertical and horizontal dimensions of his new metaphysical scheme a constructive perspective that results in a consciously communitarian understanding of the God world relationship The uniqueness of Bracken s position is its advocacy of a strictly social ontology in which the classical relationship of the One and the Many is reversed not the transcendence of the One over the Many but its emergence out of the Many in dynamic relationship

Reciprocal Causality in an Event-Filled World Joseph A. Bracken, S.J., 2022-03-04 Given the current sense of helplessness in dealing with environmental change and other urgent issues a new world view is needed that emphasizes the unique contribution that individual citizens can make to the common good as opposed to their individual needs and desires In a recent encyclical on the environment Pope Francis set forth reasons from Scripture and Church teaching for this shift in perspective but he did not provide a philosophically based foundation for this change of heart To fill that gap Joseph Bracken examines key writings of process oriented philosophers like Henri Bergson and Alfred North Whitehead along with systems oriented thinkers like Ludwig von Bertalanffy and Ervin Laszlo to create a systems oriented understanding of the God world relation The Publishers Weekly ,1999 Perspectives on Science and Christian Faith ,2000 American Book Publishing Record ,1999 AAR/SBL Annual Meeting Program American Academy of Religion.
