Everything Winged Must Be Dreaming Poems:

Everything Winged Must be Dreaming Susan Ludvigson, 1993 The poems in Susan Ludvigson's Everything Winged Must Be Dreaming turn in large measure as the title suggests on images of flight and wings dreams and air Many concern dreams or unconscious material erupting into intersecting with affecting our conscious lives Ludvigson conveys her major recurring theme love sexual love as it relates to the life of the spirit and also to death in an assortment of ways Etiam Peccata for example chronicles the liaison that inspired the dramatist Paul Claudel's masterpiece Partage de Midi Through this long poem told from the point of view of Roza Scribor Rylska Claudel's lover we witness the endurance and finally the death of her love as well as Claudel's struggle to resolve the conflict between his sensuality and his spirituality After Love another example reads like a release of breath in describing a woman's flight of reason in sexual ecstasy She remembers how reason escaped from the body flew out with a sigh went winging up to a corner of the ceiling and fluttered there a moth a translucence waiting In other poems we are reminded that the spirit is a solitary entity In October in the Aude one of many poems set in France the poet and her husband watch hawks circling in the sky in the mountains and then turn to observe some men and women sprinting downhill trying to catch a gust of wind during a parachute lesson Even such brief joinings with air with absence must give them a sense that the world can be left behind that one can choose the landscape of the mind I imagine their goal small brushes with death made beautiful the spirit drifting off where it will Marked by audacious couplings of thought and feeling these are poems of comprehensive reach and unerring empathy They add further distinction to an already remarkable poetic career BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Writing America Keith Donohue, 2001-04 This edition of Writing America published by the Nat Endow for the Arts NEA features the work of 50 NEA Literature Fellowship winners one from each state who paint a vivid portrait of the U S in the last decades of the 20th cent They evoke the magnificent spectrum of people places and experiences that define America Their biographies and personal narratives are stories in and of themselves revealing each writer's own unique path to fulfill the call to write The selections which include a mix of poetry and prose serve as inspiration to emerging writers and provide a glimpse of the tremendous vitality and diversity of contemporary American literature Yellow Shoe Poets George Garrett, 1999-10-01 Since 1964 when Louisiana State University Press published its inaugural book of verse Miller Williams's A Circle of Stone its poetry list has grown exponentially 191 books by 93 poets into a program that inspires understandable pride in those associated with it Two collections have won the Pulitzer Prize The Flying Change 1986 by Henry Taylor and Alive Together 1996 by Lisel Mueller Another book by Mueller The Need to Hold Still 1980 won the National Book Award while several other LSU titles have been finalists for that distinction most recently The Fields of Praise 1997 by Marilyn Nelson and The Vigil 1993 by Margaret Gibson Dozens more have been recognized for their excellence through a host of various honors The Press publishes the winner of the annual Walt Whitman Award given by The Academy of American Poets for a first collection and in 1996 it launched the Southern Messenger series in collaboration with Dave Smith bringing two shining works into the fold each year The appearance of The Collected Poems of Robert Penn Warren in 1998 meant for the Press the realization of a long dearly held dream To mark this thirty five year old tradition as the century and millennium turn and to offer a sampling of its richness The Yellow Shoe Poets a retrospective anthology was compiled under the editorship of George Garrett a longtime colleague of the Press and the author of eight poetry volumes Say the LSU poets real fast with a southern drawl and you get the ridiculously wonderful moniker that poet Elizabeth Seydel Morgan s young friend innocently mistook for this noble band It s an image Brendan Galvin has appropriated to a perfect fit in his poem Yellow Shoe Poet written on behalf of his fellow yellow shoes across the years All 173 poems are taken from LSU Press books and were selected by the poets themselves if living Arranged alphabetically by author they consist of at least one poem from every poet published by the Press Goethe s admonition that one ought every day at least to read a good poem can find no better starting point than in The Yellow Shoe Poets

Sweet Confluence Susan G. Ludvigson, 2000-10-01 In new poems and old Sweet Confluence turns and returns to themes of art music landscape and family that have feathered Ludvigson s lush expressive output over the past twenty five years The twenty new poems resume Ludvigson s Wisconsin motif the cradle of her experience and consciousness and use Old World European sights her mother s death from Alzheimer s and a southern palette of sight scent and sound to explore the fluidly interconnected states of being memory emotion sleep thought and sensation among others Disclosing an acceptance of the world as it is never refusing or diminishing life s full and reaching reality Ludvigson possesses a joyous maturity that dovetails with the youthful urgency to know and understand exhibited in her early poems
