

A.d'ABRO THE EVOLUTION OF SCIENTIFIC THOUGHT FROM NEWTON TO EINSTEIN

This history first sketches the essential features of Newton's great discoveries, and the apparent inevitableness of absolute space and time in classical science; then Riemann's non-euclidean geometry is discussed, and finally the way in which Einstein transported his ideas into the realm of physics, giving us thereby that supreme achievement of modern thought, the theory of relativity. Although non-technical language is used throughout, great care is given to an accurate presentation of facts.

Part I is devoted to pre-relativity physics and the reasons for its breakdown. The remainder of the book discusses Einstein's special and general theories of relativity, which rescued physics from the contradictions of classical Newtonian theory. Throughout, d'Abro touches on the contributions of Riemann, Weyl, Lorentz, Planck, Eddington, Maxwell, Hertz, and many others to modern relativity physics. He closes with a philosophical discussion of the methodology of science and of the general significance of the theory of relativity.

Revised, corrected 2nd (1960) edition. Author's preface and foreword. Appendix: The Space and Time Graphs. 15 portraits of celebrated physicists. 21 diagrams. 481pp. 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ x 8. 20002-7 Paperbound

A DOVER EDITION DESIGNED FOR YEARS OF USE!

We have made every effort to make this the best book possible. Our paper is opaque, with minimal show-through; it will not discolor or become brittle with age. Pages are sewn in signatures, in the method traditionally used for the best books, and will not drop out, as often happens with paperbacks held together with glue. Books open flat for easy reference. The binding will not crack or split. This is a permanent book.
