Industrial Clusters and Regional Business Networks in England, 1750-1970 John Wilson, Andrew Popp, 2017-07-05 Although economists have long recognised industrial districts as one of the key features of many economies it is only recently that attention has been focused on the region as an effective means of generating accurate insights into the larger picture of economic performance This renewed interest in regional issues has also placed at centre stage the role played by networks as a principal organisational feature of the local business community providing scholars with a rich topic for investigation and debate Recent work has shown that universal generalisations concerning the impact of networking on the performance of industrial clusters lack credibility highlighting the consequent need to compare the role played by business networks in a variety of regions Using a copious range of research material examining several British regions this volume poses a series of fundamental questions about the nature of industrial clusters and networks Particular attention is paid to identifying the basic characteristics of a network outlining how they evolved in key industrial clusters and assessing their impact on industrial performance both regionally and nationally The durability of such networks is another key thread that runs through the essays prompting comparison with industrial clusters in Britain and abroad These are issues which stimulate discussion on a wide range of factors within the disciplines of business economic and social history

Tectonic Evolution, Collision, and Seismicity of Southwest Asia Rasoul Sorkhabi, 2017-12-21 Southwest Asia is one of the most remarkable regions on Earth in terms of active faulting and folding, large magnitude earthquakes, volcanic landscapes, petroliferous foreland basins, historical civilizations, as well as geologic outcrops that display the protracted and complex 540 m.y. stratigraphic record of Earth's Phanerozoic Era. Emerged from the birth and demise of the Paleo-Tethys and Neo-Tethys oceans, southwest Asia is currently the locus of ongoing tectonic collision between the Eurasia and Arabia continental plates. The region is characterized by the high plateaus of Iran and Anatolia, fringed by the lofty ranges of Zagros, Alborz, Caucasus, Taurus, and Pontic mountains. The region also includes the strategic marine domains of the Persian Gulf, Gulf of Oman, Caspian, and Mediterranean. This 19 chapter volume, published in honor of Manuel Berberian, a preeminent geologist from the region, brings together a wealth of new data, analyses, and frontier research on the geologic evolution, collisional tectonics, active deformation, and historical and modern seismicity of key areas in southwest Asia.
