Historical Materialism and Social Evolution P. Blackledge,G. Kirkpatrick,2002-09-06 Historical Materialism and Social Evolution brings together a collection of essays which investigate the relationship between Marxist thought and Darwin s theory of evolution by natural selection Each of the contributors emphasize the idea that the distinctive character of progressive social thought is derived from creative ideas drawn from the study of natural evolutionary processes New Evolutionary Social Science Heinz-Jurgen Niedenzu,Tamas Meleghy,Peter Meyer,2015-11-17 Social scientists have long declared their autonomy from the natural sciences and in doing so have tended to neglect important biological constraints on human nature Many sociological theories have suggested a nearly complete malleability of patterns of social life The New Evolutionary Social Science challenges this view by building on Stephen K Sanderson s Darwinian conflict theory which sets out to synthesise sociological theories with key findings from biology into an overarching scientific paradigm Configuring and expanding this groundbreaking theory the contributors to this volume are well known European and American experts in evolutionary science The New Evolutionary Social Science develops a new basis for understanding social change and the

Theory in Social Science M. Schmid, Franz M. Wuketits, 2012-12-06 In retrospect the 19th century undoubtedly seems to be the century of evolutionism. The discovery of time and therewith the experience of variability was made by many sciences not only historians worked on the elaboration and interpretation of this discovery but also physicists, geographers, biologists and economists, demographers, archaeologists and even philosophers. The successful empirical foundation of evolutive processes by Darwin and his disciples suggested Herbert Spencer's vigorously pursued efforts in searching for an extensive catalogue of prime and deduced evolutionary principles that would allow to integrate the most different disciplines of natural and social sciences as well as the efforts of philosophers of ethics and epistemologists. Soon it became evident however that the claim for integration anticipated by far the actual results of these different disciplines. Darwin's theory suffered from the fact that in the beginning a hereditary factor which could have his theory could not be detected while the gainings of growth supported in the social sciences got lost in consequence of the completely ahistorical or biologicistic speculations of some representatives of the evolutionary research programme and common socialdarwinistic misinterpretations      The Evolution
