Ewe Unification Movement:

The Ewe Unification Movement D. E. K. Amenumey, 1989 This publication is the result of research undertaken for the Ph D degree at the University of Manchester England It is a study of the vicissitudes of the demand for the unification of a homogeneous ethnic group that came to be divided into three political units Securitising Decolonisation Julius Heise, 2024-05-06 With the right to petition the United Nations the Ewe and Togoland unification movement enjoyed a privilege unmatched by other dependent peoples Using language conveying insecurity the movement seized the international spotlight ensuring that the topic of unification dominated the UN Trusteeship System for over a decade Yet its vociferous securitisations fell silent due to colonial distortion leaving unification unfulfilled thus allowing the seeds of secessionist conflict to grow At the intersection of postcolonial theory and security studies Julius Heise presents a theory driven history of Togoland's path to independence offering a crucial lesson for international statebuilding efforts Germany and Its West African Colonies Wazi Apoh, Bea Lundt, 2013 West African history is usually seen as mainly influenced by English or French colonialism There is a new interest in German colonialism but most research is done in European archives and with a European point of view This book explores German colonial exploits and their consequences in Ghana Togo and Cameroon mostly from an African point of view By means of research on sites of the colonial hinterland and the agency of entangled people the book reveals the simmering impact of the past encounters on indigenous religious cultural political and socio economic developments in West Africa Series African Studies Afrikanische Studien Vol 49 Saadia Touval, 1999 The Boundary Politics of Independent Africa brings insights not only to Africanists but also to students of international relations and more specifically of conflict The African states that gained independence during the 1950s and 1960s emerged within the boundaries established by their colonial rulers Both African leaders and outside observers believed then that bitter conflicts would erupt over these borders This has not happened There have been numerous conflicts but only a very few have been major disruptions The prediction of boundary and territorial conflict Saadia Touval explains stemmed from the false assumption based on the European experience of irredentism and secession that the tribes and ethnic groups divided by boundaries would seek to unite to become members of the same state or to form a state of their own and therefore would challenge the boundaries dividing them Boundaries, Communities and State-Making in West Africa Paul Nugent, 2019-06-06 By examining three centuries of history this book shows how vital border regions have been in shaping states and social contracts Orange Order Patrick Coleman, 2025-01-31 On a sunny day men and women march through the streets wearing orange collarettes and carrying colourful banners However this is not the Orange Order in Northern Ireland but the same organisation in Africa This book moves beyond the cliché to delve deeply into the inner structure and rituals of the Orange Order and its global reach The Orange Order while Irish Protestant founded managed in a short period to spread to not only other parts of the UK but also to Australia New Zealand and even Africa Previous research has tended to focus on just one to two countries within a narrow timeframe This book by contrast covers almost 230 years of the Orange Order across multiple countries Unlike other studies it integrates the activities of men women and children Alabama in Africa Andrew Zimmerman,2012-05-27 This work recounts an expedition sent by Tuskegee Institute to transform the German colony of Togo West Africa into a cotton economy like the American South This book reveals a transnational politics of labour sexuality and race invisible to earlier national imperial and comparative historical perspectives The Fruits of Freedom in British Togoland Kate Skinner,2015-06-17 The end of World War I saw the former German protectorate of Togoland split into British and French administered territories By the 1950s a political movement led by the Ewe ethnic group called for the unification of British and French Togoland into an independent multiethnic state Despite the efforts of the Ewe the United Nations trust territory of British Togoland was ultimately merged with the Gold Coast to become Ghana the first independent nation in sub Saharan Africa French Togoland later declared independence as the nation of Togo Based on interviews with former political activists and their families access to private papers and a collection of oral and written propaganda this book examines the history and politics behind the failed project of Togoland unification Kate Skinner challenges the marginalization of the Togoland question from popular and academic analyses of postcolonial politics and explores present day ramifications of the contingencies of decolonization Ethnicity and the Colonial State Alexander Keese,2015-11-30 Ethnicity and the Colonial State compares the choices of community leaders in three different West African groups Wolof Temne and Ewe with regard to selling their identifications to the colonial rulers The book thereby addresses ethnicity as a factor in global history Problems of the Trusteeship System George Thullen,1964 Ghana Jeffrey Ahlman,2023-10-05 Few African countries have attracted the international attention that Ghana has In the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries the then colonial Gold Coast emerged as a key political and intellectual hub for British West Africa Half a century later when Ghana became the first sub Saharan state to emerge from European colonial rule it became a key site for a burgeoning transnational African anticolonial politics that drew activists freedom fighters and intellectuals from around the world As the twentieth century came to a close Ghana also became an international symbol of the putative successes of post Cold War African liberalization and democratization projects Here Jeffrey Ahlman narrates this rich political history stretching from the beginnings of the very idea of the Gold Coast to the country s 1992 democratization which paved the way for the Fourth Republic At the same time he offers a rich social history stretching that examines the sometimes overlapping sometimes divergent nature of what it means to be Ghanaian through discussions of marriage ethnicity and migration of cocoa as a cultural system of the multiple meanings of chieftaincy and of other contemporary markers of identity Throughout it all Ahlman distills decades of work by other scholars while also drawing on a wide array of archival oral journalistic and governmental sources in order to provide his own fresh insights For its clear comprehensive coverage not only of Ghanaian history but also of the major debates shaping nineteenth and twentieth century African politics and society more broadly Ghana A Political and Social History is a must read for students and scholars of African Studies

Sacred Sites and the Colonial Encounter Sandra E. Greene, 2002-05-14 Greene gives the reader a vivid sense of the Anlo encounter with western thought and Christian beliefs and the resulting erasures transferences adaptations and alterations in their perceptions of place space and the body Emmanuel Akyeampong Sandra E Greene reconstructs a vivid and convincing portrait of the human and physical environment of the 19th century Anlo Ewe people of Ghana and brings history and memory into contemporary context Drawing on her extensive fieldwork early European accounts and missionary archives and publications Greene shows how ideas from outside forced sacred and spiritual meanings associated with particular bodies of water burial sites sacred towns and the human body itself to change in favor of more scientific and regulatory views Anlo responses to these colonial ideas involved considerable resistance and over time the Anlo began to attribute selective varied and often contradictory meanings to the body and the spaces they inhabited Despite these multiple meanings Greene shows that the Anlo were successful in forging a consensus on how to manage their identity environment and community Ghana and Its people ,

Memory and Religion in Southeastern Ghana, c.1850–Present Meera Venkatachalam, 2015-08-10 Based on a decade of fieldwork in southeastern Ghana and analysis of secondary sources this book aims to reconstruct the religious history of the Anlo Ewe peoples from the 1850s In particular it focuses on a corpus of rituals collectively known as Fofie which derived their legitimacy from engaging with the memory of the slave holding past The Anlo developed a sense of discomfort about their agency in slavery in the early twentieth century which they articulated through practices such as ancestor veneration spirit possession and by forging links with descendants of peoples they formerly enslaved Conversion to Christianity engagement with modernity trans Atlantic conversations with diasporan Africans and citizenship of the postcolonial state coupled with structural changes within the religious system which resulted in the decline in Fofie s popularity gradually altered the moral emphases of legacies of slavery in the Anlo historical imagination as the twentieth century progressed
