

- On November 28, 1995, the L.A. Bank received a deposit of $432,000 from one depository institution. According to L.A. Bank officials, the depository institution received credit for $8,640,000 instead of the actual $432,000. Bank officials stated that they do not know whether the depository institution sent the wrong notification amount or whether L.A. Bank staff used the wrong notification for comparison. The initial L.A. Bank receiving team that counted the money knew that a $8,208,000 difference existed, but they overrode the system control in the cash inventory system and forwarded the money for further processing. Although this error was corrected when the problem was detected at the end of the day, this resulted in an erroneous entry being made into the L.A. Bank's general ledger for the $8,640,000 that increased the cash in the vault amount and the depository institution's account. L.A. Bank officials had no explanation for why this occurred.

This error, however, should have been immediately corrected when the difference was identified by the L.A. Bank staff verifying the deposit. This raises concerns about the effectiveness of these physical controls even though the internal control of performing reconciliations at the end of the day worked effectively and found the problem. The internal control to verify the deposit and compare the amount counted to the amount reported by the depository institution identified this difference early in the process and before the wrong amount was recorded in the general ledger. However, the L.A. Bank staff that performed the count did not notify their supervisor and the supervisor did not contact the depository institution at that point. As a result, greater effort was required at the end of the day to resolve the differences.

- On October 17, 1995, there was a reconciling item that required a correction to the general ledger. This correction was made to increase the general ledger balance by $1,040,000 to make it agree with the balance of the cash inventory system. The correction was to record money returned to the vault that had been ordered by a depository institution but that was not sent to the institution by the end of the day. This transaction raises a number of concerns.

The physical movement of individual customer orders for currency cannot be tracked through the L.A. Bank's cash inventory system because currency associated with numerous orders is tracked in an aggregate amount as it leaves the vault and is processed by teams preparing and shipping orders. For instance, the transfer of funds to the armored carrier for transport to the banks leaves as an aggregate carrier shipment amount,

Deception and Abuse at the Fed Robert D. Auerbach,2009-06-03 The Federal Reserve the central bank of the United States is the most powerful peacetime bureaucracy in the federal government Under the chairmanship of Alan Greenspan 1987 2006 the Fed achieved near mythical status for its part in managing the economy and Greenspan was lauded as a genius Few seemed to notice or care that Fed officials operated secretly with almost no public accountability There was a courageous exception to this lack of oversight however Henry B Gonzalez D TX chairman of the U S House of Representatives Financial Services banking Committee In Deception and Abuse at the Fed Robert Auerbach a former banking committee investigator recounts major instances of Fed mismanagement and abuse of power that were exposed by Rep Gonzalez including Blocking Congress and the public from holding powerful Fed officials accountable by falsely declaring for 17 years it had no transcripts of its meetings Manipulating the stock and bond markets in 1994 under cover of a preemptive strike against inflation Allowing 5 5 billion to be sent to Saddam Hussein from a small Atlanta branch of a foreign bank the result of faulty bank examination practices by the Fed Stonewalling Congressional investigations and misleading the Washington Post about the 6 300 found on the Watergate burglars Auerbach provides documentation of these and other abuses at the Fed which confirms Rep Gonzalez s belief that no government agency should be allowed to operate with the secrecy and independence in which the Federal Reserve has shrouded itself Auerbach concludes with recommendations for specific broad ranging reforms that will make the Fed accountable to the government and the people of the United States Federal

 The October November and December 1995 monthly currency activity reports of the Los Angeles Federal Reserve Bank were prepared and reported incorrectly The reported receipts from currency deposited in the Los Angeles Bank by depository institutions were not taken from the Bank s cash inventory records but rather forced to ensure that the currency activity report agreed with the daily balance sheet for the last day of the month For example the December 1995 report had a forced amount of more than 3 7 billion for receipts from circulation to ensure that the ending balance for cash on hand would equal 6 7 billion as reported in the daily balance sheet at the end of December These problems in currency reporting are linked to limitations in the design of the underlying cash inventory system The Los Angeles Bank s inability to precisely summarize currency activity from its cash inventory records raises serious questions about the integrity of its accounting and internal controls and may signal problems in the other Federal Reserve Banks that use this same system Considering the large sums of cash that the Los Angeles Bank deals with and the problems identified in GAO s limited audit work more detailed reviews of the Los Angeles Bank s operations are warranted Supporting Congressional Oversight Michael J. Curro,Bryon Gordon,Carol Peace Robins,2001-09 As the U S enters a new cent the 107th Cong and the new admin face an array of challenges and opportunities to enhance the performance and accountability of the Fed gov t and to position our country for the future The GAO s recently issued Performance and Accountability Series describes those challenges This report provides a framework for considering the budgetary implications of certain program reform options discussed in past GAO work but not yet addressed or enacted This report is not a complete summary of possible options but it does provide specific examples that demonstrate the programmatic and fiscal oversight needed as we enter the new millennium Charts and tables
