Feeding The Disabled Child:

Feeding the Disabled Child Peter B. Sullivan, Lewis Rosenbloom, 1996-01-16 Disabled children often have feeding difficulty Choking food spillage and protracted mealtimes can pose enormous problems for their carers and the accompanying nutritional deficit imposes additional burdens on the affected child The aetiology of these problems is placed in context by a detailed description of normal feeding development in infants The often under recognised nutritional and neurodevelopmental consequences of inadequate nutrient intake together with the respiratory complications and the important problems of constipation and drooling which may accompany oro motor dysfunction are detailed The clinical and nutritional assessment and the application of diagnostic imaging techniques in the evaluation of such children are described The methods of management of these children s problems form the core of this volume and they range from oro motor therapy to various techniques for enteral feeding The ethical issues raised by the vigorous intervention needed to improve the nutritional state of severely disabled children is explored together with the need to provide ongoing psychological support for their carers

Feeding and Nutrition for the Child with Special Needs Marsha Dunn Klein, Tracy A. Delaney, 1994 These reproducible pages help you provide parents and caregivers with exactly the feeding and nutrition information they need for the child with special needs Parents will find information on techniques troubleshooting behavior modification sources of additional information addresses of national organizations and suppliers of adapted equipment and recipes for specific nutritional needs Back cover

Feeding and Nutrition in Children with Neurodevelopmental Disability Peter B. Sullivan, 2009-07-13 This book is written to assist those who have responsibility for the nutritional and gastrointestinal care of children with neurodisability The emphasis throughout is on the importance of multidisciplinary care It is concerned with the problems surrounding the nutritional management of children with neurological impairment who have difficulty swallowing and feeding Written from a multidisciplinary perspective by a group of authors with considerable clinical and research experience in this area it covers The epidemiology of feeding disorders in children with cerebral palsy Nutritional assessment Evaluation of oral motor function Dietetic management Nursing issues in the nutritional care of the disabled child Tube feeding Gastrointestinal problems and their investigation

Meeting the Needs of Children with Disabilities Helen K. Warner, 2007-05-07 This textbook provides the reader with an insight into the needs of children with both physical and learning disabilities particularly within an acute care setting It considers the principles that underpin the fundamental aspects of care delivery to children with special needs The key areas of knowledge and practical skills covered include the social and historical context challenging assumptions best practice for giving news to parents communication methods play and movement nutrition and feeding boundary setting respite care transitions into adult services This interesting book covers practice areas identified by the English National Board as essential for student nurses It will also be invaluable for qualified nurses and for other health professionals working with children with disabilities

Assessment of

Young Developmentally Disabled Children Theodore D. Wachs, Robert Sheehan, 2013-06-29 Our knowledge of the cognitive and social emotional functioning of developmentally disabled infants and preschoolers derives in large part from our assessment of such children This book has been developed to familiarize readers with the characteristics of developmentally disabled children and to introduce to readers aspects of measurement that are of relevance to the assessment of atypical infants and preschoolers The book has been developed with clinicians and prospective clinicians in mind These are individuals who are committed to the care and education of developmentally disabled infants and preschoolers and the families of those children The book has thus been written to provide support for the use of assessment data in planning early intervention programs Of special note in the development of this edited book is that it is divided into four major parts with interrelated chapters in each part The authors of chapters in Parts II and III had access to the chapters in Part I before writing their chapters The summary chapters found in Part IV were similarly written by authors having access to all chapters in Parts I III This approach to the development of an edited book was chosen as a way of ensuring an integration of major concepts throughout the book This process is also a reflection of our belief that assessment is an interdisciplinary process involving the synthesis of a number of diverse interests

Parenting Your Disabled Child Margaret Barrett, 2017-03-16 If you or someone you know has a child with disabilities this book is for you Whether the problem is picked up in pregnancy or after birth or is a result of an accident or of sudden illness Parenting Your Disabled Child takes you through the emotional roller coaster of diagnosis to coping strategies for babies and toddlers with developmental delay sensory impairment or learning difficulty The cause of the disability might be brain damage a genetic or chromosomal disorder metabolic disease traumatic injury or damage after illness such as post meningitis while conditions may include autism Down syndrome attention deficit disorder hyperactivity dyslexia and a host of others The book has therefore a wide range but the emphasis remains on the child rather than the disability It is important to bear in mind also that at this stage there may be no diagnosis many families are not given any diagnosis for at least two years Meanwhile they have to cope like any other family with a tiny child Sensitive and practical the book addresses the common concerns of parenting such as feeding sleeping toileting and the thorny question of discipline It explains why it is vital to avoid the all too common mistake of being over protective and how to give small children opportunities for learning and independence Topics include Your child's need for stimulus and interaction Encouraging physical development Intellectual development Social situations How to foster independence Reinforcing good behaviour Life as a family and looking after yourselves

Ottolini, Christina K. Ullrich, 2014-08-28 For the first time Pediatric Clinics is devoting one issue to two clinically focused topics Pediatric Palliative Care and Pediatric Hospital Medicine Dr Ottolini has organized her section to focus on a variety of issues of relevant to all pediatricians but which pose special challenge to the Pediatric Hospitalists As pediatric care has advanced children who would not have survived infancy are growing into young adults with complex chronic diseases and dependence upon technology They frequently require hospitalization to address exacerbation of underlying disease processes and procedures to improve their quality of life The articles are devoted to patient care challenges of troubleshooting malfunctioning technology co managing medically complex patients pre and post op with surgical colleagues and the Hospitalist s evolving role in performing procedures and sedation in this population of vulnerable patients Also discussed rare strategies to maximize communication with parents patients and primary care providers during hospitalization especially for medically complex patients Dr Ullrich and Dr Wolfe Pediatric have worked to bring relevant articles on palliative care to the pediatrician While life threatening conditions in childhood are rare children with LTC account for a high proportion of pediatric hospital care and about one half of such children die in the inpatient setting The number of hospital based pediatric palliative care programs has increased dramatically over the past decade to meet the palliative care needs of hospitalized children including symptom management facilitation of communication decision making and advance care planning support and coordination of care Given these considerations it is evident that the topics of pediatric palliative care and hospital medicine are fitting counterparts for this comprehensive issue
