Making the Difference Elaine L. Graham, 2016-10-06 One of the most significant phenomena within the Western church in the second half of the twentieth century has been the emergence of feminist theology This both reflects and promotes pastoral and policy concerns about the proper roles and relationships of women and men within the Christian church such as the validity of women's priestly ministry the use of inclusive language in liturgy and the metaphorical naming of God At the heart of the debate is the question of the meaning and significance of gender in theology and Christian practice Within the human and social sciences the analysis of gender is treated as an essential aspect of human behaviour By contrast within the church there has been little sustained or disciplined attention to the nature and underlying significance of gender Theological discourse and church policy have too often displayed ignorance and unexamined assumptions about the crucial issues involved Graham attempts a more detailed and critical inquiry into how an analysis of gender can affect policy practice and discourse within the church Focusing on three major disciplines anthropology biology and psychoanalysis she demonstrates how these offer profound implications for our understanding of the foundations of human culture and identity for theological studies and for Christian practice

Reader in Gender Archaeology Kelley Hays-Gilpin, David S. Whitley, 1998 This Reader in Gender Archaeology presents nineteen current controversial and highly influential articles which confront and illuminate issues of gender in prehistory The question of gender difference and whether it is natural or culturally constructed is a compelling one The articles here which draw on evidence from a wide range of geographic areas demonstrate how all archaeological investigation can benefit from an awareness of issues of gender They also show how the long term nature of archaeological research can inform the gender debate across the disciplines The volume organizes this complex area into seven sections on key themes in gender archaeology archaeological method and theory human origins division of labour the social construction of gender iconography and ideology power and social hierarchies and new forms of archaeological narrative includes section introductions which outline the history of research on each topic and present the key points of each article presents a balance of material which rewrites women into prehistory and articles which show how the concept of gender informs our understanding and interpretation of the past

From Eve to Dawn: A History of Women in the World Volume I Marilyn French, 2008-04-01 The first volume of the New York Times bestselling author's monumental and unprecedented history. Consistently thought provoking. The New York Review of Books. The internationally celebrated author of The Women's Room Marilyn French spent over fifteen years with a team of researchers and prominent historians examining women's lives and activities in civilizations and societies spanning the ages. Beginning in prehistory, Origins moves on to examine women's lives in ancient Egypt, China, India, Peru, Mexico, Greece, and Rome. In her reconstruction of wars, laws, and other activities affecting both women and men, French also traces the worldviews underpinning them. She also depicts how women's relationship to Judaism, Christianity, and Islam changed for good and bad over the centuries. She backs up even her more controversial theories with an impressive accumulation of academically accepted historical, anthropological, and sociological sources. Written in concise, understated language, this is a significant addition to literature on women's studies and history. Publishers Weekly.

Women in World Religions Arvind Sharma, Birks Professor of Comparative Religion, Arvind Sharma, 1987-01-01 This is a book by women about women in the religions of the world. It presents all the basic facts and ideological issues concerning the position of women in the major religious traditions of humanity: Buddhism, Christianity, Confucianism, Hinduism, Islam, Judaism, Taoism, and tribal religions. A special feature of the book is its phenomenological approach wherein scholars examine sacred textual materials. Each contributor not only studies her religion from within but also studies it from her own feminine perspective. Each is an adept historian of religions who grounds her analysis in publicly verifiable facts. The book strikes a delicate balance between hard fact and delicate perception, the best tradition of phenomenology and the history of religions. It also demonstrates how much religions may vary over time. Contributors are: Katherine K. Young, Associate Professor of Religious Studies at McGill University; Nancy Schuster Barnes, whose Ph.D. is in Sanskrit and Indian Studies; M. Theresa Kelleher, Assistant Professor of Religion and Asian Studies at Manhattanville College; Barbara Reed, Assistant Professor of Religion at St. Olaf College; Denise L. Carmody, Professor and Chair, Department of Religion, The University of Tulsa; Also Jane I. Smith, Associate Dean for Academic Affairs and Lecturer in Islamic Studies at Harvard Divinity School; Rosemary Radford Ruether, Georgia Harkness Professor of Applied Theology at the Garrett Evangelical Theological Seminary; Rita M. Gross, Associate Professor of Comparative Religions at the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire.

Goddesses and the Divine Feminine Rosemary Ruether, 2005-05-16 This landmark work presents the most illuminating portrait we have to date of goddesses and sacred female imagery in Western culture from prehistory to contemporary goddess movements. Beautifully written, lucidly conceived, and far-ranging in its implications, this work will help readers gain a better appreciation of the complexity of the social forces, mostly androcentric, that have shaped the symbolism of the sacred feminine. At the same time, it charts a new direction for finding a truly egalitarian vision of God and human relations through a feminist ecological spirituality Rosemary Radford Ruether begins her exploration of the divine feminine with an analysis of prehistoric archaeology that challenges the popular idea that until their overthrow by male dominated monotheism many ancient societies were matriarchal in structure governed by a feminine divinity and existing in harmony with nature For Ruether the historical evidence suggests the reality about these societies is much more complex She goes on to consider key myths and rituals from Sumerian Babylonian Egyptian and Anatolian cultures to examine the relationships among gender deity and nature in the Hebrew religion and to discuss the development of Mariology and female mysticism in medieval Catholicism and the continuation of Wisdom mysticism in Protestantism She also gives a provocative analysis of the meeting of Aztec and Christian female symbols in Mexico and of today's neo pagan movements in the United States

A Millennium of Family Change Wally Seccombe, 1992 How do changes in family form relate to changes in society as a whole In a work which combines theoretical rigour with historical scope Wally Seccombe provides a powerful study of the changing structure of families from the Middle Ages to the beginning of the Industrial Revolution Responding to feminist critiques of sex blind historical materialism Seccombe argues that family forms must be seen to be at the heart of modes of production He takes issue with the mainstream consensus in family history which argues that capitalism did not fundamentally alter the structure of the nuclear family and makes a controversial intervention in the long standing debate over European marriage patterns and their relation to industrialization Drawing on an astonishing range of studies in family history historical demography and economic history A Millennium of Family Change provides an integrated overview of the long transition from feudalism to capitalism illuminating the far reaching changes in familial relations from peasant subsistence to the making of the modern working class
