George, P.G. Jung, 2015-09-18 The mainstream approach to the understanding of pain continues to be governed by the biomedical paradigm and the dualistic Cartesian ontology This Volume brings together essays of scholars of literature philosophy and history on the many enigmatic shades of pain experience mostly from an anti Cartesian perspective of cultural ontology by scholars of literature philosophy and history A section of the essays is devoted to the socio political dimensions of pain in the Indian context The book offers a critical perspective on the reductive conceptions of pain and argue that non substance ontology or cultural ontology supports a more humane and authentic understanding of pain The general ontological features of the self in pain and culturally imbued dimensions of pain experience are thus brought together in a rare blend in this Volume The essays dwell on the importance of understanding what cultural social and political forces outside our control do to our pain experience They show why such understanding is necessary both to humanely deal with pain and to rectify erroneous approaches to pain experience They also explore the thoroughly ambivalent spaces between pain and pleasure and the cathartic and productive dimensions of pain The essays in this Volume investigate pain experiences through the fresh lenses of history gender ethics politics death illness self loss torture shame dispossession and denial Ramchandra Gandhi A. Women, Mobility and Incarceration Rimple Mehta, 2018-09-03 This book explores how Bangladeshi women from poor and undereducated semi educated backgrounds who have crossed the Indo Bangladesh border find themselves in prisons serving sentences under the Foreigners Act 1946 Drawing on original fieldwork this book explores these women s understanding of borders and state sovereignty and how the women from conservative rural and semi rural backgrounds which impose a strict moral code adjust to the socio cultural context of an Indian prison where being an inmate is dishonourable in their community This book examines the implicit challenge in these women s action and decisions to these codes of honour to accepted social norms of their religion and community and ultimately the dominantly patriarchal system that marks South Asian society Further it focuses on the negotiations that the Bangladeshi women make with the social and political borders they encounter in the process of crossing the Indo Bangladesh border without requisite documents needed by the state for entry into a foreign land how they cope with the daily challenges of living during their imprisonment in a correctional home and their feelings about their impending return to Bangladesh Women who are apprehended and criminalised for crossing borders must negotiate with not only the normative understanding of borders which is inherently masculine in nature but also the gender biased lens through which female mobility is viewed therefore they not only cross political borders but also social borders This book maps the associations between women s experiences of mobility and incarceration and their linkages with social and political borders and the fraught experiences of being in a foreign territorial space It will be important reading for criminologists sociologists and those engaged in penology women s studies and migration studies In Search of Just Families Chhanda Gupta,2018-06-06 This book explores two contemporary combative views regarding the search for just families These views arise from the conundrum of the family being seen as a supportive nurturing haven versus a grievously unjust harmful institution that violates the rights and freedoms of any individual family member Triggered by anti family movements which have been inspired by the ideas of some theorists and writers the book addresses the question Is family destined to wither away It challenges the radical idea that the solution to the problem of unjust families is their complete replacement by purportedly just anti familial alternatives Chhanda Gupta advances a distinct reformist and reconciliatory view that the expulsion of either side of the family anti family binary is not the answer She seeks to syncretize the seemingly irreconcilable ideas propagated through that philosophical binary Furthermore she urges that the search for just families must find its answer in clarifying how the term just applies to the characters behaviors and attitudes of people who comprise actual families The search is not for a perfectly just society or polity or even for a perfectly just family Instead it is a search for ways to redress the remediable injustices that occur in families in order to benefit and uplift individuals and families and the societies in which they live Disability Studies in
