Coan, 2017-04-28 A History of American State and Local Economic Development relates the history of American local and state economic development from 1790 to 2000 This multi variable multi disciplinary history employs a bottom up policy making systems approach while exploring the three eras of economic development

To Live Peaceably Together Tracy E. K'Meyer, 2022-04-14 A groundbreaking look at how a predominantly white faith based group reset the terms of the fight to integrate US cities The bitterly tangled webs of race and housing in the postwar United States hardly suffer from a lack of scholarly attention But Tracy K Meyer s To Live Peaceably Together delivers something truly new to the field a lively examination of a predominantly white faith based group the Quaker aligned American Friends Service Committee AFSC that took a unique and ultimately influential approach to cultivating wider acceptance of residential integration Built upon detailed stories of AFSC activists and the obstacles they encountered in their work in Chicago Philadelphia and Richmond California To Live Peaceably Together is an engaging and timely account of how the organization allied itself to a cause that demanded constant learning reassessment and self critique K Meyer details the spiritual and humanist motivations behind the AFSC its members shifting strategies as they came to better understand structural inequality and how those strategies were eventually adopted by a variety of other groups Her fine grained investigation of the cultural ramifications of housing struggles provides a fresh look at the last seventy years of racial activism

Unfair Housing Mara S. Sidney, 2003 It is difficult to ignore the fact that even as the United States becomes much more racially and ethnically diverse our neighborhoods remain largely segregated The 1968 Fair Housing Act and 1977 Community Reinvestment Act promised to end discrimination yet for millions of Americans housing options remain far removed from the American Dream Why do most neighborhoods in American cities continue to be racially divided The problem suggests Mara Sidney lies with the policies themselves She contends that to understand why discrimination persists we need to understand the political challenges faced by advocacy groups who implement them In Unfair Housing she offers a new explanation for the persistent color lines in our cities by showing how weak national policy has silenced and splintered grassroots activists Sidney explains how political compromise among national lawmakers with divergent interests resulted in housing legislation that influenced how community activists defined discrimination what actions they took and which political relationships they cultivated As a result local governments became less likely to include housing discrimination on their agendas existing laws went unenforced and racial segregation continued A former undercover investigator for a fair housing advocacy group Sidney takes readers into the neighborhoods of Minneapolis and Denver to show how federal housing policy actually works She examines how these laws played out in these cities and reveals how they eroded activists capability to force more sweeping reform in housing policy Sidney also shows how activist groups can cultivate community resources to overcome these difficulties looking across levels of government to analyze how national policies interact with local politics In the first book to apply policy design theories of Anne Schneider and Helen Ingram to an empirical case Sidney illuminates overlooked impacts of fair housing and community reinvestment policies and extends their theories to the study of local politics and nonprofit organizations Sidney argues forcefully that understanding the link between national policy and local groups sheds light on our failure to reduce discrimination and segregation As battles over fair housing continue her book helps us understand the shape of the battlefield and the prospects for victory

City of Rhetoric David Fleming, 2009-07-01

Examines the relationship of civic discourse to built environments through a case study of the Cabrini Green urban revitalization project in Chicago

Liquor Store Theatre Maya Stovall, 2020-10-09 For six years Maya Stovall staged Liquor Store Theatre a conceptual art and anthropology video project included in the Whitney Biennial in 2017 in which she danced near the liquor stores in her Detroit neighborhood as a way to start conversations with her neighbors In this book of the same name Stovall uses the project as a point of departure for understanding everyday life in Detroit and the possibilities for ethnographic research art and knowledge creation Her conversations with her neighbors which touch on everything from economics aesthetics and sex to the political and economic racism that undergirds Detroit s history bring to light rarely acknowledged experiences of longtime Detroiters In these exchanges Stovall enacts an innovative form of ethnographic engagement that offers new modes of integrating the social sciences with the arts in ways that exceed what either approach can achieve alone
