The Federal Republic of Germany Alfred Grosser, 1965      Thermophilic Microorganisms and Life at High Temperatures T.D. Brock, 2012-12-06 From 1965 through 1975 I conducted an extensive field and laboratory research project on thermophilic microorganisms The field work was based primarily in Yellowstone National Park using a field laboratory we set up in the city of W Yellowstone Montana The laboratory work was carried out from 1965 through 1971 at Indiana University Bloomington and subsequently at the University of Wisconsin Madison Although this research project began small it quickly ramified in a wide variety of directions The major thrust was an attempt to understand the ecology and evolutionary relationships of thermophilic microorganisms but research also was done on biochemical physiologic and taxonomic aspects of thermophiles Four new genera of thermophilic microorganisms have been discovered during the course of this 10 year period three in my laboratory In addition a large amount of new information has been obtained on some thermophilic microorganisms that previously had been known In later years a considerable amount of work was done on Yellowstone algal bacterial mats as models for Precambrian stromatolites In the broadest sense the work could be considered geomicrobiological or biogeochemical and despite the extensive laboratory research carried out the work was always firmly rooted in an attempt to understand thermophilic microorganisms in their natural environments Indeed one of the prime motivations for initiating this work was a view that extreme environments would provide useful models for studying the ecology of microorganisms As a result of this 10 year research project I published over 100 papers      Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts ,1997      Hi-tech Data Base Buyer's Guide ,1985      Senior High School Library Catalog ,1975      Paperbound Books in Print ,1968      The Federal Republic of Germany.
