Feminism And Islamic Fundamentalism The Limits Of Postmodern Analysis:

Feminism and Islamic Fundamentalism Haideh Moghissi, 1999-07 A highly controversial intervention into the debate on postmodernism and feminism this book looks at what happens when these modes of analysis are jointly employed to illuminate the sexual politics of Islam As a religion Islam has been demonized for its gender practices like no other This book analyzes that Orientalism with particular reference to representations of Muslim women and describes the real sexual politics of Islam The author goes on to describe the rise of Islamic fundamentalism and the West's response to it She argues that regardless of the sophisticated argument of postmodernists and their suspicion of power as an intellectual and political movement postmodernism has put itself in the service of power and the status quo Moghissi brilliantly demonstrates how this trend has given rise to a neo conservative feminism A major feminist critique of Islamic fundamentalism this book asks some hard questions of those who in denouncing the racism of Western feminism have taken up an uncritical embrace of the Islamic identity of Muslim women It is urgent reading for all those concerned about human rights as well as for students and academics of women's studies political science social theory and religious studies

Islam, Gender, and Democracy in Comparative Perspective Jocelyne Cesari, José Casanova, 2017-04-14 The relationship between secularism democracy religion and gender equality has been a complex one across Western democracies and still remains contested When we turn to Muslim countries the situation is even more multifaceted In the views of many western commentators the question of Women Rights is the litmus test for Muslim societies in the age of democracy and liberalism Especially since the Arab Awakening the issue is usually framed as the opposition between liberal advocates of secular democracy and religious opponents of women's full equality Islam Gender and Democracy in Comparative Perspective critically re engages this too simple binary opposition by reframing the debate around Islam and women's rights within a broader comparative literature Bringing together leading scholars from a range of disciplines it examines the complex and contingent historical relationships between religion secularism democracy law and gender equality Part One addresses the nexus of religion law gender and democracy through different disciplinary perspectives sociology anthropology political science law Part Two localizes the implementation of this nexus between law gender and democracy and provides contextualized responses to questions raised in Part One The contributors explore the situation of Muslim women's rights in minority conditions to shed light on the gender politics in the modernization of the nation and to ponder on the role of Islam in gender inequality across different Muslim countries

Filming the Modern Middle East Lina Khatib, 2006-09-29 Filming the Modern Middle East is the first comparative investigation of how modern American cinema and the cinemas of the Arab world represent Middle Eastern politics to their audiences Lina Khatib examines the cinematic depictions of major political issues from the Arab Israeli conflict to the Gulf War to Islamic fundamentalism and covers films made in the USA in Egypt Tunisia Morocco Lebanon Syria and Palestine She explores cinema s role as a tool of nationalism in the USA and the Arab world and the challenges the Arab cinemas present to Hollywood s dominant representations of Middle Eastern politics But she also reveals similarities between supposed contradictory cinemas and importantly not only how the Orient is constructed by the Occident but also how the Orient itself in these cinemas represents Self and Others and how it is consumed by internal as well as external struggles This is a fascinating original contribution to the burgeoning interest in world cinemas which also offers a fresh way of seeing Middle East politics through cinematic lenses Developmental and Cultural Nationalisms Radhika Desai, 2013-10-18

Premature announcements of the eclipse of nation states under globalization and empire stand exposed as the 21st century s first economic crisis underlines their continuing importance A predominantly cultural study of nationalism was unable to resist the globalization thesis Focusing on selected Asian cases this book argues that nationalisms have always contained political economies as well as cultural politics Placing nation states centrally in our understanding of modern capitalism it challenges the globalization thesis Rather than eclipse nations and nationalisms have undergone changes under the impact of neoliberalism since the 1970s Classical 20th century developmental nationalisms emphasised citizenship economy and future orientations Later cultural nationalisms Asian values Hindutva Confucianism or Nihonjiron stressed identity culture and past orientations Amid neoliberalism s flagrantly unequal political economy not primarily concerned with material production or productivity they glorified static conceptions of original cultures and identities whether religious ethnic or other and justified inequality as cultural difference In contrast to the popular mobilizations which powered developmental nationalisms cultural nationalisms thrive on neoliberalism's disengagement and disenfranchisement albeit partially compensated by the political baptism of newly enriched groups. Extremist wings of cultural nationalism in some countries were a function of this lack of popular support. This book was published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly. Proceedings of the Second Annual Conference on Shi'i Studies Hossein Nazari, Ali Paya, Oliver Leaman, Mersedeh Dad Mohammadi, Sarah Scio', Mohammed Ali Ismail, Liyakat Takim, Jafar Ahmad, Sani Yakubu Adam, Kabiru Haruna Isa, Ali Faraj, Morteza Karimi, 2018-01-01. The Annual International Conference on Shi'i Studies is organised by the Research and Publications Department of The Islamic College London. The conference aims to provide a broad platform for scholars working in the field of Shi'i Studies to present their latest research and to explore diverse opinions on Shi'i thought, practice and heritage. This book comprises a selection of papers from the second conference held on 7-8 May 2016. Do Muslim Women Need Saving? Lila Abu-Lughod, 2013-11-12. Do Muslim Women Need Saving is an indictment of a mindset that has justified all manner of foreign interference including military invasion in the name of rescuing women from Islam. It offers a detailed moving portrait of the actual experiences of ordinary Muslim women and of the contingencies with which they live. Women's Rights in Islam Asmaa Shehata, 2023-11-20. The issue of Muslim women's rights never seems outdated and has become trendy in the post-9/11 environment. That is the mainstream media and Western politicians often view Muslim women as victims of male patriarchy and frequently justify Western involvement in the Middle East and in other Muslim majority countries at least in part to rescue women. Within this realm Nawal El Saadawi is a famous Egyptian writer whose writings focus on the struggle of Muslim women and are widely read in the Middle East and many Western societies as well. Because of her bold feminist views on politics, religions and gender she is described as the Simone de Beauvoir of the Arab world. After the death of El Saadawi in 2021 a flurry of arguments and criticism in the Egyptian press and women's press around the world is created in which different social media platforms were filled with numerous comments and discussions of her writings and arguments. Whereas some mourned El Saadawi and her dedication to women's issues others celebrated her death wishing her the worst punishment in the afterlife for what they described as her destructive thoughts. This monograph genuinely analyzes her views on five controversial issues: marriage, polygamy, divorce, inheritance rights and veiling in light of Qur'anic exegeses offered by two classical scholars, i.e. Muhammad ibn Jarir Al Tabari and Ismail ibn Umar Ibn Kathir and two contemporary Muslim feminists, i.e. Amina Wadud and Azizah Al Hibri. By taking a critical look at her views the book contributes not only to this ongoing debate but adds value to assessing El Saadawi's work and helps readers gain a greater understanding of her writings as well. It also enables readers to comprehend the current tension between feminism and Islam by understanding the perspectives of both sides. Since El Saadawi's writings are available in the Western countries the book would appeal to academics, researchers on Islam and gender and Middle Eastern women as well as to lay audiences interested in women and gender in Muslim societies. Divine Words, Female Voices Jerusha Tanner Lamptey, 2018-08-10. The relationship between

Islam and feminism is complex There are many Muslim scholars who fervently promote women s equality At the same time there is ambivalence regarding the general norms terminology and approaches of feminism and feminist theology This ambivalence is in large part a product of various hegemonic androcentric and patriarchal discourses that seek to dictate legitimate and authoritative interpretations These discourses not only fuel ambivalence they also effectively obscure valuable possibilities related to interreligious feminist engagement Divine Words Female Voices is the follow up to Jerusha Lamptey s 2014 book Never Wholly Other in which she introduced the idea of Muslima theology and applied it to the topic of religious diversity In this new book she extends her earlier arguments to contend that interreligious feminist engagement is both a theologically valid endeavor and a vital resource for Muslim women scholars She introduces comparative feminist theology as a method for overcoming challenges associated with interreligious feminist engagement reorients comparative discussions to focus on the two Divine Words the Qur an and Jesus and feminist theology and uses this reorientation to examine intersections discontinuities and insights related to diverse theological topics This book is distinctive in its responsiveness to calls for new approaches in Islamic feminist theology its use of the method of comparative theology its focus on Muslim and Christian feminist theology in comparative analysis and its constructive articulation of Muslima theological perspectives

Islamic Veiling in Legal Discourse Anastasia Vakulenko, 2012 Islamic Veiling in Legal Discourse looks at relevant law and surrounding discourses in order to examine the assumptions and limits of the debates around the issue of Islamic veiling that has become so topical in recent years For some Islamic veiling indicates a lack of autonomy the oppression of women and the threat of Islamic radicalism to western secular values For others it suggests a positive autonomous choice a new kind of gender equality and a legitimate exercise of one s freedom of religion a treasured right in democratic societies This book finds that across seemingly diverse legal and political traditions a set of discursive frameworks the preoccupation with autonomy and choice the imperative of gender equality and a particular western understanding of religion and religious subjectivity shape the positions of both proponents and opponents of various restrictions on Islamic veiling Rather than take a position on one or the other side of the debate the book focuses on the frameworks themselves highlighting their limitations
